Library School Association NEWS LETTER

THIS FALL Dr. Lewis F. Stieg became assistant director of the University of Illinois Library School, succeeding Dr. E. W. McDiarmid who is now University librarian and director of the Library School, University of Minnesota.

Dr. Stieg comes to the University of Illinois with a broad and thorough educational background. He has a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago's Graduate Library School, having previously graduated from Library School at the University of Michigan. After completing his undergraduate work at the University of Buffalo he received a master of arts degree there and another at Harvard University. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Since 1936 Dr. Stieg had served as librarian of Hamilton College, Clinton, New York, and before that occupied a similar position at John B. Stetson University, Deland, Florida.

While at Hamilton College Dr. Stieg did considerable research on circulation records and college library use, the findings being published in Library Quarterly. His article, "A Technique for Evaluating the College Library Book Collection," appeared in the same journal.

Mrs. Stieg, who before her marriage was Mildred Graf, is also a graduate of Buffalo University and was a research assistant with the

Dr. Lancaster Joins Staff

Dr. John Herrold Lancaster, who joined the Library School faculty this fall with the rank of assistant professor, is on leave of absence from his position as librarian of Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio, which he had held since 1939.

In World War I he was a lieutenant in the Infantry of the United States Army, and it was not until after the war that he finished work for his B.S. degree at Ohio Wesleyan. His advanced degrees include: an A.M. from Ohio State University, a Ph.D. from Teachers College, Columbia University, and a B.S. from the Columbia School of Library Service.

Dr. Lancaster is teaching courses in Library Administration and Backgrounds for Librarianship. In addition to his Library School program he is also teaching the laboratory and quiz sections of Physics 304, the mechanics phase, to an engineering group enrolled in the Army Specialized Training Program. Having had experience in teaching science in high schools and having a major in Mathematics, he is well qualified for this work.

Since 1931 Dr. Lancaster has been active in Red Cross First Aid work and the past two summers has taught that subject to advanced life saving instructors at the Culver Aquatic School.

Dr. and Mrs. Lancaster have two sons, John, 17, who is enrolled in the Navy V-12 program at the University of Illinois, and James, 14, who is a freshman in Urbana High School.

President's Message

Dear Fellow Alumni:

Are you backing your Library School? How many really promising students have you sent to the University of Illinois Library School since you graduated? Have you contributed to the Katharine L. Sharp Endowment Fund by becoming a life member of our Association? If you have not you are missing a chance to really count in the existence of both your Library School and the Alumni Association. By becoming an integral part of your Alumni Association you will find your school means more to you and you will mean more to your school.

Since 1925 the Library School Alumni Association has made available to you a life membership at $25.00. This money is retained in the permanent fund to endow a $300.00 scholarship each year in the Graduate Library School. If more of you become life members the Alumni Association can offer more scholarships to outstanding students. Would you not like to help make a scholarship available to an undergraduate Library School student each year? The annual dollar dues of the Library School Alumni Association paid by those members who are not life members make up the fund for the ordinary running expenses of the Association, such as the publication of the News Letter, which you have been receiving since 1923, and our loan fund for students.

We want our Alumni Association to count in the University of Illinois. To do this we need the support of every one of our 2,500 alumni and former students. Please consider seriously the advantage of a life membership in the Association. We really want you as a life member. Why not send us your membership by return mail—the greater the number of life memberships the larger the number of scholarships which we can offer.

Loyally yours,

DOROTHY J. HILL

It will be noted in this report that only 136 alumni paid their dollar for an annual membership. This is a small percentage out of the possible 2200 in active work. Life memberships have also lagged badly. Last year there were only five new subscriptions; furthermore, alumni who have made pledges have been more careless in keeping them up to date. Very few graduates of recent years seem to realize that a life membership is a good investment. In the long run it costs less for the individual and, because it contributes to the scholarship fund, it is of more value to the school.

In the midst of the general preoccupation with world affairs, war work, and income taxes, it is natural that many should lose sight of the small obligations. The Alumni Association has done such good work in the past, and there is so much work for such an organization in the future, that all are urged to tear the colored slip from the News Letter, pin a dollar bill or a check to it and send it back without delay.

During the period an addition of $330 was made to the principal sum. Earnings on investments were $432.94. The only change in the investment of the Association funds during the period was through the purchase, in December, 1942, of $300 worth of U.S. savings bonds, Series G, bearing interest at 2½%. Such investment was authorized by the Association at the 1942 annual meeting.

The ninth Katharine L. Sharp scholarship of $300 was paid to the University in July 1942, for use during the year 1942-43.

WASHINGTON ALUMNI GROUP

One of the largest and most enthusiastic alumni groups is that in Washington, D.C. Dorothy J. The School in Wartime

The University of Illinois Library School entered upon its fall session under conditions quite different from the ordinary. Classes began on October 13, a month later than usual, because of the change to a school year of three sixteen week semesters, necessitated by the University's accelerated educational program. Library School students share study tables and other library facilities with khaki-clad young men of the Army Specialized Training Program, here for the special study of foreign languages and areas, and with blue-clad young men of the Navy's V-12 program. Between classes their progress along the campus walks is frequently halted by lines of soldiers marching to class. Among civilians, young women are noticeably in the predominance.

The effect of the war is felt in the Library School enrollment, which totals fifty-one students. Besides these, twenty-three undergraduate students are enrolled in the course for teacher-librarians and thirty-one in the course in the use of books and libraries.

A fall commencement for students receiving degrees in October was held, October 3, for the first time in the University's history. In presenting the Library School candidates for degrees, Director Downs announced that none was on hand for the occasion as all were already engaged in active library work. The following received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Library Science:

Zella Caster Cundall, A.B., 1923

Ruth Dyer, B.S., Monmouth College, 1925

Frances Elizabeth Neal, A.B., Coe College, 1930

Ancilla Toigo, B.Ed., Illinois State Normal University, 1939

The degree of Master of Science in Library Science was awarded to Agnes Lytton Reagan, A.B., University of Arkansas, 1935; A.M., A.B.(Lib.), Emory University, 1936, 1939. Miss Reagan was the holder of the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship for 1942-43.

Master of Arts degrees in Library Science were received in August, 1943, by the following:

Dena Julia Polacheck Epstein, A.B., University of Chicago, 1937; B.S.(Lib.), 1939.

Sister Mary José Ernst, Ph.B., University of Chicago, 1922; A.B.(Lib.), Rosary College, 1938.

Marjorie Stafford, A.B., University of Oklahoma, 1925; B.S.(Lib.), Columbia University, 1940.

Master of Science degrees in Library Science were received at the same time by the following:

Irene Louise Craft, B.S., Ft. Hays Kansas State College, 1930; A.M., University of Nebraska, 1931; B.S.(Lib.), 1941.

Esther Mary Crenshaw, B.S., Wilberforce University, 1933; B.S.(Lib.), Hampton Institute, 1935.

Fowler Border Cross, A.B., Central State Teachers College, 1931; A.B.(Lib.), University of Oklahoma, 1939.

Ruth Madeline Erlandson, A.B., Knox College, 1928; B.S.(Lib.), 1937.

Elizabeth Jean Wellshear, A.B., Drury College, 1936; B.S.(Lib.), 1940.

FACULTY NOTES

Director Downs gave the principal address at the Illinois Library Association dinner in Chicago, November 10, speaking on education for librarianship. An article by him, "Expanding the National Union Catalog," appears in the November 1943 issue of the A.L.A. Bulletin.

Director Emeritus Windsor is making a survey of the principal libraries in the Kansas City, Missouri, area for the trustees of the Linda Hall Memorial Library Fund, to assist the trustees in deciding on the kind of library to be established with the fund. The survey is being made under the auspices of the A.L.A.

Dr. Windsor's Honors Day address, "Books and the Studious Life," appears in Illinois Libraries for October. The Library Journal, August 1943, contains his article "Frank K. Walter Retires."

Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, was recently visited by her sister of Mobile, Alabama. Miss Simpson does not plan to go south this winter, because of the difficulties of travel. She is taking an active part in local library and church organizations.

Ethel Bond, associate professor, attended a meeting of the regional group of catalogers in Chicago, November 1, and on the same day a meeting of catalogers and reference librarians held at the University of Chicago. Proposed changes in the Library of Congress cataloging rules were discussed at these conferences, which were called by Lucille Morsch and Dr. Herman Henkle.

Miss Bond also attended the Illinois Library Association dinner meeting at which new officers were installed.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor, has reviewed LeRoy C. Merritt's The United States Government as Publisher for the September issue of College and Research Libraries.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor, has returned to the Library School following her sabbatical leave of absence, which was spent in study under Dr. Paul Witty at Northwestern University. Her special project was "Backgrounds of Book Selection for the Secondary School." Miss Hostetter received the Master of Arts degree. She was elected to membership in Pi Lambda Theta, honorary education fraternity.

Work in the Gray Ladies Corps of the Red Cross is giving Miss Hostetter and Miss Boyd opportunity to study the therapeutic value of books. Miss Hostetter is continuing her experiments in the mental hygiene of reading in connection with pre-nursing education at the St. Francis High School, Springfield, Illinois, which supplies nurses for St. John's Hospital, Springfield.

Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor, attended the Institute on the Library in the Community held at the Graduate Library School, University of Chicago, August 23-28.

The interesting dissertation, The Chicago Public Library: Origins and Backgrounds, by Dr. Gwladys Spencer, was published during the past summer by the University of Chicago press as one of its Studies in Library Science series. In reviewing Miss Spencer's book for the October issue of Library Quarterly, Dr. Paul M. Angle speaks of her "workmanlike prose" and notes that the book has "that further appeal which comes from the full mastery of a subject."

Mildred E. Singleton has resigned as instructor in the Library School and has accepted a position as librarian of Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Illinois.

Alice Lohrer acted as co-ordinator for the two-day School Library Clinic, Centralia Township High School, Centralia, Illinois, November 5-6. Miss Lohrer has a review of Willard A. Heap's Criteria for Book Evaluation for Secondary School Libraries in the September issue of School Review.

Dr. John H. Lancaster, who joined the Library School faculty this fall as assistant professor teaching classes in administration, is continuing to hold the position of first vice-president of the Ohio State Library Association, by request of the Association.

The Library School Library is now in charge of Elma Anderson, B.S. in L.S. '35. Miss Anderson is continuing her studies toward the Master's degree in Library Science. She succeeds Frances Hammitt, who resigned to accept a position on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin Library School.

A faculty committee composed of Anne M. Boyd and Marie M. Hostetter is cooperating with Miss Anderson in a special effort to build up the source materials in the Library School Library, especially the reports and publications of individual libraries. Alumni are again reminded that their assistance in this project will be appreciated.

Applications Due March 1

Alumni interested in doing second year Library School work are invited to apply for the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship to be awarded by the faculty in March 1944. This scholarship, which was endowed in 1933 by the University of Illinois Library School Association as a memorial to the founder of the School, includes a stipend of $300 and exemption from tuition. Application blanks may be secured upon request from the Library School and should be filed with Director R. B. Downs before March 1, 1944.

Placement Situation

Director Robert B. Downs and Dr. Lewis F. Stieg, assistant director, have been studying the placement activity of the Library School during 1942 and 1943 and have found that the current year's requests for recommendations is forty per cent above that of last year. From June to October of this year requests were received from thirty-six states showing that Illinois is maintaining its national reputation.

Because of reduced Library School enrollments and the fact that many librarians have gone into war work, many positions are going unfilled. This fact, coupled with the general improvement in salaries, means that libraries with lower standards will either be unable to fill vacancies or must raise their salary scales. A competent person without experience is now likely to find a starting position at $1500 to $1800, whereas a year ago most beginners received from $1200 to $1500. There have been more positions open within the $2000 to $2500 range for experienced people and, many alumni have received promotions and salary increases in the systems where they were already employed.

The proportion of requests for recommendations from public libraries has increased, indicating that they have been less hard hit by the war than have college and university libraries.

Director Downs says: "It is obvious that an aggressive recruiting campaign by this and other library schools is needed because this year's classes are considerably smaller even than last year's, thereby rendering more acute the placement situation. The Alumni Association and individual alumni would make a valuable contribution now by informing good prospects concerning the opportunities and attractions of library work." As one of the "Going to College" series broadcast over radio station W I L L and planned to acquaint students with various curricula offered by the University of Illinois, Director Downs spoke on the opportunities open to those with library training.

Alumni who wish the Library School to keep them in the active placement file are urged by Dr. Stieg to keep the office informed of changes in address, position, and salary. Failure to file such information, particularly with regard to changes of salary, reduces the effectiveness of the School's placement service and puts the School in the embarrassing position of making recommendations no longer suitable.

SCHOOL SPONSORS INSTITUTE

The Institute and Clinic for Public and School Librarians sponsored by the University of Illinois Library School was held on the Urbana campus, July 27, 28, and 29. Registrations amounted to approximately one hundred and thirty. The theme was "School and Public Libraries in War-time" and the program was planned to aid librarians in thinking through and solving problems that confront them.

Principal speakers were: Nora Beust, specialist school libraries, U. S. Office of Education; Harold F. Brigham, director, Indiana State Library, and Louis M. Nourse, assistant librarian, St. Louis Public Library. A special feature of the 1943 Institute was the study of community discussion techniques under the guidance of D. E. Lindstrom, professor of rural sociology, University of Illinois.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

A few major changes and developments at the University of Illinois Library may interest the alumni.

This fall H. G. Bousfield was appointed associate university librarian to replace Dr. Homer Halvorson who resigned from that position to accept the librarianship of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland. Mr. Bousfield is a graduate of New York University, from which institution he also received an M.A. degree in Education. His library degree was obtained at Columbia University. From 1929 to 1940 he was chief of the Reader's Department at New York University and from 1940 until this fall he was assistant librarian there.

A new Music Departmental Library was opened in Smith Memorial Hall this fall. The collection, planned to contain about 3,000 volumes of music from the main stacks and music faculty offices, will be under the direction of Joseph Allen, formerly music librarian at Queens College, New York City.

NEW PUBLICATION SERIES

The first in the series, Illinois Contributions to Librarianship, entitled Fifty Years of Education for Librarianship, consisting of papers presented for the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the Library School and the second, The Program of Instruction in Library Schools, by Metcalf, Russell, and Osborn, have just been published by the University of Illinois Press. The third, McDiarmid's Administration of the American Public Library, will be released within a short time. Copies of the first two titles may be ordered through the University of Illinois Press, Urbana, Illinois, at the following prices: unbound $1; bound $1.50.

Alumni in the News

Outstanding service being done by librarians in connection with the war effort is being recognized in many communities. Newspaper stories concerning activities of several alumni have come to the editors, who will appreciate having notices of what others are doing sent in for inclusion in future issues of the News Letter.

The Manhattan (Kansas) Mercury of May 27, 1943, carried a feature article, "Satisfactions are found in books for Fort Riley service men in hospital," which described the work done by Grace E. Derby, B.L.S.'07, associate librarian of Kansas State College Library, in supplying the sick soldiers with reading material. The project began in February 1942 after Miss Derby had learned of the need, through an army chaplain. She personally collected, stored in her house, and arranged for the distribution of the magazines and books which were "begged, bought, and borrowed." She supervised a simple library system for checking out the materials. Every Friday she filled her car and drove to Fort Riley where she helped wheel the loaded book trucks through the wards. "As a morale lifter she has been a one-woman organization" the article states, and each trip she saw between five and six hundred men, trying to fill all requests. After the first few months she had help from other individuals and organizations and also helped in similar work at Camp Whiteside.

In addition to her duties as librarian in charge of stations throughout Multnomah County, Oregon, Norma Lee Peck, B.L.S.'15, also acts as an agent for the American Merchant Marine Library Association. This work is particularly heavy now with the Portland ship yards sending a new ship down the ways every few days. She writes, "In the last six months I have packed 4800 + books for 121 ships and half again as many magazines. Lots of hard work, but one is more than repaid by the letters of gratitude and appreciation that come back to us." A feature story in the Sunday Portland Oregonian of May 16, 1943, is accompanied by a photograph of Miss Peck, "personal librarian for the navy and merchant marine," delivering a book box holding about sixty books, to a Portland-built Liberty Ship before sailing time.

A picture of Kate D. Ferguson and an interesting story of how the British Council had invited her to come to London to be interviewed relative to establishing libraries on the West Coast of Africa were carried in the New York World Telegram of August 27, 1943.

Miss Ferguson, though born in England, is an American citizen. She was educated in France and Belgium. For eighteen months during World War I she worked in libraries for American doughboys.

At the present time she has a nephew in a German prison camp. He wrote her requesting that she send him food. After the first package reached him he added the names of twelve fellow prisoners to whom food should be sent and the list finally grew to three hundred. Pancake flour was the most frequently asked for item.

An article by Felix Chiappini in Mundo Uruguayo, July 1, 1943, and one by Mario B. Bardoni in El Dia, May 23, 1943, tell of the installation in Montevideo of the library Artigas-Washington. This library is the third of its type to be established in Latin American countries, the other two being the Benjamin Franklin Library in Mexico City and the library Americana in Managua, Nicaragua. Founded under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies and the Office of Coordinator of Inter-American affairs, it will be nevertheless an independent entity governed by a board of seven members, five North Americans and two Uruguayans.

The installation and organization of the library were entrusted to Arthur Gropp, B.S.'30, A.M.'31, formerly librarian of the Middle American Research Institute, Tulane University. The papers ran portraits of him taken in Montevideo and gave him credit for being a specialist in library economy and an influential force in spreading culture. Both accounts speak of his enthusiasm for his work and indicate the high esteem with which he is regarded in Uruguay.

The aim of the library will be to strengthen the cultural relations between the United States and Uruguay and to furnish to citizens of both countries information and material relative to cultural, economic, and scientific development. Besides library services which will be given free, the library provides for the showing of films, the holding of conferences, art exhibits and classes in English. Mr. Gropp wrote recently that one hundred and sixty people were taking advantage of this opportunity to learn to speak English.

Mr. Chiappini in his article in Mundo Uruguayo writes "This is good news for all, even those who do not know English. In times such as these there is great need for increasing public library facilities so that more can have the wise comforting presence of those good friends, books, and more than ever is there the need for improving mind and spirit so that there may be a durable reconstruction of human civilization."

Alumni in War Service

Gerard Baker, B.S.'36, M.S.'40, first lieutenant, and Mrs. Baker are the parents of a third son, Paul Lawrence, born September 23, 1943. Lt. Baker is at the Western Signal Corps School, Davis, California.

Charles J. Boorkman, Jr., B.S.'38, seaman second class, is assigned to Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Before entering the service he was chief library assistant, Special Service Branch in the Fifth Service Command, Ft. Hayes, Columbus, Ohio.

Don A. Hennessee, B.S.'39, private first class, has the following address: AAF, WTTC Class 12B, Armstrong Hotel, Fort Collins, Colorado. He writes of his life there, "Our day is certainly full—we get up, at 5:45—lights out at 9:30 so we don't have much free time, but what we do have we can use as we please. We stay at the nicest, largest hotel in town. The food is simply marvelous, and we eat like humans—have glasses, cups, and plates instead of trays; girls wait tables and we don't have to wash our own dishes, but just stack them (and this is the Army!)."

Eugene B. Jackson, B.S.'38, A.M.'42, private, has been assigned to the ASTP Unit, Military Department, Texas Technical College, Lubbock, Texas, where he is receiving training in the advanced phase of mechanical engineering.

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

The New Curriculum

THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL has announced a new curriculum to be offered for the first time in the autumn semester of 1944. The alumni have already received copies of the Announcement which gives in detail the requirements for degrees and descriptions of individual courses. The new curriculum is the result of much thought and effort on the part of the faculty and represents an attempt at an instructional program of professional caliber adjusted to the needs of American libraries.

The new curriculum should be considered the culmination of an evolutionary process. No educational program can be successful if it is static, and each year has brought some changes in the course offerings of the Library School. The time has now come, however, when a complete reorganization is necessary. There have been such major revisions of the curriculum in the past and there will undoubtedly be more in the future, for librarianship is a rapidly changing and developing profession.

In the study, The Program of Instruction in Library Schools, which was one of the preliminaries to the University of Illinois curriculum revision, Metcalf, Russell and Osborn postulate the following objectives for the library school:

1. To make clear the principles according to which libraries (primarily American) function.
2. To impart the techniques and skills used in libraries in the light of these principles.
3. To promote professional understanding and standards.

The first and third of these are closely related and are clearly essential for any professional curriculum. Unless a library school achieves the second of these objectives, its alumni can not perform efficiently the day-to-day tasks with which the librarian is confronted. The faculty believe that the new curriculum is a forward step in the realization of these objectives.

The three most important assumptions upon which the new curriculum is based are: (1) the essential minimum instruction necessary for any librarian can be provided in one semester of study; (2) the basis for competent service in at least one special phase of librarianship can be provided in a second semester of study; (3) certain courses outside the field of library science can be considered professional in nature because of their contribution to a student's special interest.

All of the courses during the first semester are required: The Development of the Modern Library, Cataloging and Classification, Reference Service, Library Administration. In The Development of the Modern Library an attempt is made to give the student the fundamentals of the philosophy and history of librarianship—in other words, to fulfill the first of the objectives listed above, although all of the courses must be directed in part toward this aim. The remaining courses are the so-called four basic courses. Careful planning and correlation should provide an integration of these courses which will result in an economy of time and effort for the student.

During the second semester all courses are elective, and the individual student's abilities and interests will determine his program of study. The student also has the opportunity to elect certain courses outside the Library School, provided they contribute directly to his field of specialization. Such courses must, of course, be chosen carefully, and in no case should they be considered primarily as a means for remedying deficiencies in his pre-professional education.

The majority of librarians do not continue their study beyond the first year. For these the faculty believe the new curriculum will provide an adequate training in the fundamentals of librarianship. At the same time it will serve as a basis for advanced study for those interested in the master's degree.

Graduate work in librarianship must be concerned with research if it is to be on a par with graduate instruction in other fields. It should also offer the student an opportunity for intensive study of some special phase of library service in which he is primarily interested. The faculty have tried to attain these two objectives in the new curriculum at the second-year level.

Changes in the advanced curriculum are of two kinds: (1) the reorganization of existing courses; (2) the addition of new courses to provide opportunity for specialization in more types of library service. An example of the reorganization is the new treatment of government publications. An elementary course in this subject has been introduced as an elective in the second semester of the first year program; at the advanced level a seminar will be offered. Courses have been added to enrich the program, particularly for students interested in public, special, and school libraries. Many of these courses will also be of interest to students preparing for the college and university field, in which Illinois alumni have long been pre-eminent.

The new curriculum should be more flexible and more adaptable to the needs of individual students. It should therefore serve the American library more effectively by helping to provide a professional personnel competent and efficient in all the necessary techniques, but also alert to the unrealized potentialities of library service. Changes and adjustments will undoubtedly be necessary — some, perhaps, quite soon. When such changes are no longer necessary, librarianship will have ceased to be a vital force in American society.

The above list gives the names of the alumni who have become life members in the Association since 1939.

Trustees of the Endowment Fund are very anxious to have more life members so that the principal of the fund may be increased. Interest rates on investments suitable for this fund have dwindled in the past four years to such an extent that the Trustees feel some concern that soon the yield may not be sufficient to meet the amount necessary for the annual Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship.

The younger alumni might well consider such a membership as an investment in their profession for this scholarship has helped and should continue to help fellow alumni to a year of graduate study which might otherwise be impossible.

Margaret Boynton Windsor

The many alumni friends of Mrs. P. L. Windsor will be saddened to learn of her death on February 14. Though Mrs. Windsor had not been well for some time, her death, which was caused by coronary thrombosis, was unexpected. Funeral services were held on February 17 at Wesley Foundation, Urbana, with the Reverend Paul Burt, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, in charge.

Born in Lockport, New York, January 1, 1872, Margaret Fursman Boynton Windsor attended Cornell University where she specialized in the study of botany and entomology. She was married to Phineas Lawrence Windsor on January 1, 1902. Following several years in Washington, D. C., and Austin, Texas, Mrs. Windsor had resided in Urbana since 1909, when Mr. Windsor assumed the directorship of the University of Illinois Library. Her many activities in the community included work in Trinity Methodist Church, the League of Women Voters, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, the Cornell Alumni Club, and the Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Chapter.

Mrs. Windsor always showed a keen interest in the University Library Club and other activities of the Library School and Library staff, and was often hostess to them. With Mr. Windsor she attended the meetings of the Illinois Library Association and the American Library Association where former students of the Library School were able to renew acquaintance with her. She also accompanied Mr. Windsor on his automobile tours following his retirement in 1940, when they visited some 300 alumni and former members of the Library staff, and it was through her interesting letters that those at home received a vivid account of their experiences on these travels.

Mrs. Windsor's cordial manner and genuine friendly interest gave her a secure and lasting place in the affections of many alumni throughout the country who will join with her Champaign-Urbana friends in sympathy with Mr. Windsor and the three daughters in their bereavement.

FACULTY NOTES

Director Downs attended a conference of the Association of Research Libraries in New York City, March 1 and 2. Preceding this meeting he was in Washington where he spoke at an alumni dinner.

Two articles by Mr. Downs appear in recent issues of Illinois Libraries:

"Preparation for Librarianship," January 1944, and "Books on the War Front," March 1944. His review of Van Male's Resources of Pacific Northwest Libraries appears in the Library Journal, November 15, 1943. The volume edited by Mr. Downs on Union Catalogs in the United States is reviewed by Donald Coney in the Library Quarterly, January 1944. Mr. Coney describes the book as "a most substantial contribution to the literature of library administration. Seldom have librarians been fortunate in having at hand such a wealth of data on a major undertaking at such an opportune time."

P. L. Windsor, director emeritus, has contributed an article, "On General Reading," to the February 1944 issue of Illinois Libraries. The American Historical Review, January 1944, carries his review of The Chicago Public Library by Gwladys Spencer. He contributed a review of Webster's Biographical Dictionary to the Library Journal February 1, 1944. His speech, "Fifty Years," given at the fiftieth anniversary celebration, appears in Illinois Contributions to Librarianship, no. 1, Fifty Years of Education for Librarianship.

This volume of the Contributions also contains "The Alumni Speaking," talk given by Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, at the fiftieth anniversary celebration.

L. W. Stieg, assistant director, has been assisting the A.L.A. in the preparation of a special report on postwar education for librarianship for a committee of the Armed Forces headed by Colonel Spalding. Dr. Stieg worked with Anita Hostetter, B.L.S. '20, of A.L.A. headquarters, and Lowell Martin of the University of Chicago Graduate School. In connection with this project, he attended conferences at Minneapolis and Denver.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor of library science, gave a talk on publishers before the McLean County, Illinois, Library Association at Bloomington on April 21.

Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor of library science, received her Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago Graduate Library School on December 17, 1943. The title of her dissertation is The Effects of Organizational Pattern on Reference Service in Three Metropolitan Libraries: Boston, St. Louis, and Los Angeles. Miss Phelps' class in advanced reference has been making a careful investigation of the comparative coverage of the Dictionary of American English and the four unabridged English dictionaries which will serve as the basis for a review of the recently completed Dictionary of American English in the Subscription Books Bulletin.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor of library science, attended on January 27, the first regional conference of school principals of Illinois held in this state. She represented library interests in the discussion of such problems as improvement of instruction, general education, juvenile delinquency, and guidance.

Miss Bond, Miss Hostetter, Dr. Lancaster, and Miss Lohrer attended the Chicago Regional Institute on Demobilization and Readjustment, March 4 and 5.

Helen Small, who for a number of years was a stenographer in the Library School office, has recently transferred to a similar position in the Loan Department, University of Illinois Library.

INSPECTION TRIP

Plans for the Library School inspection trip April 27, 28, and 29, were made under considerable difficulty this year. Since buses were not available as in the past, the trip to Springfield had to be made by traction. Hotel accommodations could not be provided in Springfield, so the students were forced to go on to Jacksonville for the night, returning to Springfield on April 29 to complete their inspection of the libraries there. Dr. Stieg and Miss Boyd accompanied the group.

Summer Session

In addition to the regular curriculum to be given by the Library School in the 1944 summer session, a short course of six weeks, from June 12 to July 22, for librarians of small public libraries will be offered if enrollment is sufficient to justify it. This course is planned as a service to libraries of the state of Illinois which are faced with serious difficulty in filling sub-professional positions, due to wartime shortages of personnel. An interesting symposium, "We Had the Summer Session at Illinois," written by six librarians who have attended similar courses in the past, appeared in Illinois Libraries, December 1943.

For the regular eight-weeks term, running from June 12 to August 5, a full schedule of courses for teacher-librarians and first and second year students is being listed in the published announcement, which alumni may obtain by request from the Library School office. In addition to Professors Boyd, Hostetter, Lancaster, and Spencer from the permanent faculty, there will be six to eight visiting instructors.

THIRD ANNUAL INSTITUTE

A special feature of the summer session of the Library School will be the third annual Institute for Librarians in Service, July 6, 7, and 8. The program is still tentative but the general theme will be "Expansion of Library Service."

WASHINGTON, D. C., ALUMNI

Alumni of Washington, D. C., on February 29 held a dinner meeting at which Director R. B. Downs gave a report on the new Library School curriculum and other recent news and developments relating to the School. The thirty-eight present, whose names and addresses are listed below with their respective libraries, represented the largest gathering yet held by alumni in Washington. The meeting was also attended by Herman Henkle, former instructor in the Library School, and A. O. Sarkissian, who received his Ph.D. degree at the University, both now at the Library of Congress.

Very fittingly, the publication of a series of studies to be known as the Illinois Contributions to Librarianship was inaugurated in connection with the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the University of Illinois Library School in 1943. The first number in the series is appropriately entitled Fifty Years of Education for Librarianship. The second appeared at the same time with number one and also had its inception in connection with the plan for commemoration of the Anniversary. The third was issued somewhat later in 1943. Numbers two and three appreciatively acknowledge the assistance given through grants from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

No. 1, Fifty Years of Education for Librarianship, is sponsored by the University of Illinois Library School Association and is a compilation with contents of a dual nature. It records not only the past achievements of the University of Illinois Library School since its origin at Armour Institute in Chicago in 1893 as the Department of Library Economy, and since its development at the University of Illinois in Urbana from September, 1897, as the Library School of that University, but it voices also a challenge to the future. Dr. Carl M. White in the "Foreword" describes the second half of this volume as recognizing that education for librarianship "must progressively adapt itself to the needs it exists to serve;" and that "creative effort and willingness to serve" are as necessary today as they were half a century ago.

How important these qualities were for library training in the nineties is happily set forth in the volume's first group of papers. Dr. C. C. Williamson writes of Melvil Dewey's extraordinary power to inspire, and of his creative influence upon library affairs at a time when Miss Katharine L. Sharp, later the founder of the library school in Illinois, was a library student under his direction. Miss Margaret Mann, an alumna (1894), describes the curriculum and lists the graduates of the Chicago period. Adam Strohm (1900) tells of "Early Days." Director Emeritus P. L. Windsor summarizes the activities of "Fifty Years", and Assistant Director Emerita Frances Simpson speaks for the alumni, in addresses that had been presented at the Fiftieth Anniversary Dinner on March second. Other notable figures of the library world in the successive papers continue the retrospective account. The last group brings the challenge to the future, with its outlook for Library School impacts upon librarianship even beyond the borders of our own country.

Four illustrative plates add to the value of the volume. The excellent reproduction of the bronze tablet with Miss Sharp's portrait, and the picture of Mr. Windsor at his desk will be especially treasured by many of the School's alumni.

No. 2, The Program of Instruction in Library Schools, is the published portion of the "Carnegie Survey" as reported by the Survey Committee: Keyes D. Metcalf, director of the Harvard University Library, Andrew D. Osborn, chief of the Catalog Department, Harvard College Library, and John Dale Russell, professor of education at the University of Chicago. These committee members—none of whom were connected with a library school—were requested by the University of Illinois Library School to make a study which would deal with "American standards and ideals" for professional training for librarianship, and then to make application of them to the specific instance of the University of Illinois Library School. It is the report of the study of these theoretical standards and ideals which constitutes this volume.

After a brief historical introduction, library school programs are approached from three angles: (1) the first-year program; (2) the second-year program; and (3) the administration of library schools. Limitations of reviewing space prevent a detailed description of the various outstanding elements of discussion under these topics. But the thinking of all professional librarians, whether or not they agree with the findings, should be stimulated by the consideration given to such subjects as professional training for first-year students, the curriculum for their use and its methods of presentation, and the student's working load. Probably one of the most stressed points in the report is the emphasis upon the need for instruction that shall quickly develop a broad professional rather than a technical attitude in library school students.

In relation to the second-year program, problems of administration arise, of the functions of seminars, of theses, and of the possible future of the second-year program itself. Administrative questions propounded are of such a very practical type that they will no doubt lead many readers to the desire for further discussion of problems of student personnel and placement; of selection, requirements and promotion of faculty members, and of the importance of their possible contributions to the professional field.

No. 3, The Administration of the American Public Library, is by Errett Weir McDiarmid, present director of the University of Minnesota Library School, and his brother, John McDiarmid, of the United States Civil Service Commission. Dr. E. W. McDiarmid was assistant director of the University of Illinois Library School when the book was being written. It is issued by joint publishers, and shows the imprint of the American Library Association and the University of Illinois Press.

Stated objectives of this study are: (1) to describe organization and management of American public libraries, (2) to summarize the experience of libraries in dealing with organization and management problems, and

(3) to appraise public library administration with particular reference to public and business administration in general. For this purpose 315 municipal libraries are studied. These are essentially the same libraries as those investigated by Mr. Carleton B. Joeckel in his earlier, basic treatment of The Government of the American Public Library. The McDiarmids make a convenient and logical division of the number of libraries so that they fall into three groups for consideration throughout the book, namely, small, medium, and large.

Definitions and limitations are carefully presented at the outset. These are followed by expositions of the place of the board in library management, and of the functions of the librarian and his executives. Departmentation is discussed for large and medium-sized libraries. Financial management, as of prime importance, is treated as the core of library administration, as influenced especially by legal relations to other governmental agencies, and by the size of the specific library system. A second very vital problem is personnel management. To promote its satisfactory administration, the authors recommend a detailed personnel classification scheme. Frequent paragraphs headed "Recommendations" are a pleasing and helpful feature of this book. Among other well-planned physical factors that assist in ready use of the volume are the numerous topical headings in bold type, the 33 tables, and the 10 organization charts.

Formal procedures for coordination of administration within the library are treated in the next-to-the-last chapter as adding to the effectiveness of library service. Staff manuals, committees, conferences, and reports are some of the devices thus discussed. The concluding chapter offers a "General Appraisal of Library Administration" and points up the chief themes of the study as a whole. One topic emphasized is the desirability of a distinction between clerical and professional duties. Diminution of clerical duties performed by professional librarians is advised. Main fundamentals urged for good administration are inspiring and improved leadership and efficient and progressive methods to achieve distinct objectives. Three causes for an optimistic concluding view of administration in the American public library are advanced: previous experiments and successful developments; cooperation long sustained between librarians as a group and other agencies and disciplines; and the continuous originality and resourcefulness of American librarians.

These three books described herewith are evidence of the University of Illinois Library School's recognition of its responsibility and desire to contribute professionally to the literature of the field of librarianship in general, to record progress, and to stimulate further investigation.

Alumni Editorial Work

University of Illinois Library School Alumni are among the joint authors responsible for a number of useful professional and other works recently published. Though their names do not always appear on the title pages, these people have made their contribution through service on committees which laid the groundwork for the publications, through special assistance given to the authors, or more directly through actual compilation or editorial work.

As associate editor, Myron W. Getchell, B.L.S.'22, had a great share of the responsibility for the fourteenth edition of the Dewey Decimal Classification and Relative Index, 1942. Helmer L. Webb, M.A.'27, was a member of the A.L.A. Advisory Committee which prepared the way for the second edition of the Union List of Serials in the United States and Canada, 1943.

Amy C. Moon, B.L.S.'01, served on the Subcommittee on Library Terminology of the A.L.A. Editorial Committee, through whose efforts was produced the A.L.A. Glossary of Library Terms, 1943. Miss Moon also was a member of the Filing Code Subcommittee which prepared the A.L.A. Rules for Filing Catalog Cards, 1942. Other members of the Subcommittee were Ruth N. Latshaw, M.A.'28, and James B. Childs, B.L.S.'21.

Two alumnae, Dorothy Hill Gersack, M.S.'37, and Bess Glenn, B.S. in L.S.'32, were among the compilers of the Handbook of Federal War Agencies and Their Records, 1917-21, recently published by the United States National Archives.

Marion Harman, B.S. in L.S.'40, contributed a number of articles to the Dictionary of World Literature published by the Philosophical Library in 1943, including those on Alexandrian School, Chorizontes, Epitome, Ancient Libraries, School of Perganum, and Pinax. Miss Harman is cited by William A. Oldfather in the preface to his Studies in the Text Tradition of St. Jerome's "Vitae Patrum," 1943, for "extensive aid in the preparation of the Index." Her contribution to the University of Illinois facsimile edition of the works of John Milton is acknowledged in the preface to the first volume by the editor, Harris F. Fletcher.

Other alumni members of the University of Illinois Library staff,—Willia K. Garver, B.L.S.'03, Helen McIntyre, M.S.'41, Isabel F. Grant, M.A.'37, Edith C. Jones, M.S.'33, and C. U. Faye, M.S.'30,—also receive prefatory recognition by Professor Fletcher and Professor Oldfather for assistance in the preparation of these two scholarly works.

Miles O. Price, B.L.S.'22, is compiler of the list of government publications which appears regularly in the bi-monthly issues of the American Political Science Review. He serves as chairman of the Committee on the Index to Legal Periodicals of the American Association of Law Libraries. Bernita J. Long, B.S. in L.S.'32, is a member of the Committee and editorial staff on the Law Library Journal.

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

Library School Library

BETWEEN THE CLOSE OF THE SUMMER SESSION and the opening of the fall semester, some hasty moving, painting, and remodeling were done to allow the Library School Library to attain full status as a departmental library. Room 328, the former Graduate Study Room, now houses the book collection and all the necessary equipment for effective departmental library service to Library School students.

The change was made to facilitate supervision and control of the collection. Students who wish to withdraw reserved books for use at their desks in the Study Room may do so, but the new Library is so attractive and apparently so conducive to study that many students prefer to do much of their work there. Laboratory collections for cataloging and reference have been left in the Study Room, but all other book services are now centralized in the new Library. Room 308, the former "Conference Room," is now a seminar for graduate classes.

Graduate students have been assigned desks in the large Study Room with the first-year students. At the present time there is plenty of room for all, and the counter down the middle of the room forms a barrier to separate the sheep from the goats. When the enrollment of the School again reaches prewar figures, new quarters will undoubtedly have to be found for the graduate students.

Donna Finger became librarian in September, just in time to supervise the moving of the collection and the planning of the new Library. A graduate of the School of Library Service at Columbia University in 1944, Miss Finger did her undergraduate work at Northwestern University and received a Master of Arts degree in English from Wisconsin.

Alumni Reunions

From Marguerite H. Anderson, B.S. in L.S.'30, chief of the Indiana Division of the Indiana State Library comes the following news, dated October 27:

"You may be interested in the fact that during the session of Indiana Library Association we had a University of Illinois Library School Alumni breakfast. There were sixteen of us there including Ella Hodges of Mishawaka, Harriet Engilage of Peru, Florence A. Grove of West Lafayette, Flora M. Case of Elkhart, Mrs. Grace Harper of Muncie, Florence B. Thorne of Nappanee. Norris Talley and Verna Hankemeier, who have always so faithfully attended the alumni functions, were there from the Indianapolis Public Library. Glenn Maynard and Faye Cantrell of Butler University Library were there. From the State Library were Hazel White-leather Hopper, Nelle Coats, Ruth Johnston, Genevieve Statz and myself.

In addition to eating a mammoth breakfast we had fun discussing old times at the University of Illinois. Next year we hope to have an even larger representation."

GRADUATES OF 1944

So far as positions are concerned, there have probably never been so many for so few as were available to those who received their degrees from the Library School during 1944. In June a class of twenty-two received the B.S. in L.S. degree. A picnic in Hessel Park, Champaign, celebrated the successful completion of the examination period. In August, twenty were awarded the same degree, and one candidate represented the Library School at the October commencement.

There were nine Master's degrees awarded in 1944: one each in February, June, and August, and six in October. Four of the candidates specialized in cataloging, two in reference, and one each in college library administration, in school library administration, and in book selection.

RECRUITING

The alumni of the Library School have always been its best recruiting agents and for many years the only ones that were necessary. This year, however, the personnel situation in the library profession is so serious that the Library School is planning a more formal recruiting program. Tentative plans provide for closer cooperation with personnel advisers in various colleges, the publication of a bulletin, and other recruiting methods which will help to acquaint promising young people with the possibilities in librarianship and the educational program of the Library School. The help of various members of the alumni may be requested to carry out these plans. If you have any ideas or suggestions, send them to Dr. Stieg.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND ASSISTANTSHIPS 1945-46

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship

Helen L. Norris, who received the B.S. in L.S. degree from Illinois in 1933, is the Sharp Scholar for 1944-45. Miss Norris came to Library School directly from Knox College, where she took an A.B. degree in 1932. Since her graduation, Miss Norris has held positions at the Illinois State Library; the Rockford, Illinois, Public Library; and the Gary, Indiana, Public Library. Miss Norris' field of specialization is public library administration, particularly the administrative problems connected with cataloging.

Applications for the Sharp Scholarship for 1945-46 should be sent to Director Downs no later than February 15. Supported by an endowment created by the alumni, the scholarship provides a stipend of $300 a year and exemption from tuition fees.

University Scholarships

Applicants for admission to graduate work in Library Science are eligible for certain general university scholarships. These carry a stipend of $350 a year and exemption from the usual tuition. Applications should be sent to Director Downs no later than February 1. Candidates for these scholarships must not be over thirty years of age at the time when the appointment is to be made.

Assistantships

Several assistantships in the University Library will be available during 1945-46 for graduate students in Library Science. Holders of three-quarter-time assistantships work thirty hours per week and receive a salary of $109.50 a month. Half-time assistantships carry a salary of $73 per month for twenty hours work each week. Students appointed to these assistantships are also exempt from the usual tuition fees. EXTENSION COURSES

During 1944-45 the Library School is for the first time offering extra-mural courses. Through the Extension Division of the University, two courses are being given in Springfield, one for clerical assistants and one for professional librarians.

Miss Lohrer is teaching the subprofessional course. Designed to give the students an introduction to library routines and practices, it will, nevertheless, stress the relation of those routines to the larger objectives of the library.

The course for professional librarians will be taught by Miss Spencer. As a non-credit refresher course, it will consist primarily of lectures with some discussion periods. Current developments in various phases of librarianship will be emphasized, with some attention given to probable post-war trends.

Both courses carry no academic credit and are offered primarily as a part of the in-service training program sponsored by the Civil Service Commission for state employees. The courses are open, however, to any properly qualified person in the Springfield area.

SUMMER SESSION

A successful and very busy summer session began on June 13 and ended on August 5. There were fifty-three students at various stages of their work for the B.S. in L.S. degree, including seventeen who were just beginning. Nineteen graduate students were enrolled, about the same number as in 1943.

At the request of various agencies and individuals in the State, the Library School revived this summer the short course for high-school graduates in the hope that it would help to alleviate the very serious personnel problems which are confronting small public libraries. The enrollment was, however, very small, largely because many people who were interested could not secure substitutes to take their places for the six-week period.

Of the regular faculty, Miss Boyd, Miss Hostetter, Miss Spencer, and Mr. Lancaster offered a variety of courses. Ruth M. Erlandson was on leave from her position in the Reference Department of the University Library to teach the courses in reference. A. Ethelyn Markley, the Sharp Scholar for 1943-44, taught cataloging. Other visiting faculty members included Winifred B. Linderman, librarian of the Garden City, New York, High School Library; Ada Wood, supervisor of school libraries, Peoria, Illinois; Lura E. Crawford, librarian of the Gage Park High School Library, Chicago; and Louise Anthony, librarian of the Dupu, Illinois, High School Library.

INSTITUTE

The third annual Institute of the Library School was held from July 6 to 8. Planned primarily for the public librarians in the region and particularly for librarians in smaller communities, the conference centered around the theme, "The Expansion of Library Service." Registration figures totaled 209, a gain of 53 over the preceding year.

The speakers included Essae M. Culver, executive secretary of the Louisiana Library Commission; Mildred W. Sandoe, state library organizer for Ohio; Harold L. Hamill, librarian of the Kansas City, Missouri, Public Library; and Dorothy Hiatt, librarian of the Jacksonville, Illinois, Public Library. Winifred B. Linderman of the Summer School faculty and Beatrice D. Wade, director of the occupational therapy curriculum at the University of Illinois also took part in the program.

A special feature of the Institute was a series of talks on current books in various fields by several members of the University faculty: Director R. B. Downs of the Library School, Director Fredrick S. Siebert of the School of Journalism, and Assistant Professor Brice Harris of the English Department.

The social event of the meeting was a reception held in the Lounge of Wesley Foundation by the Library Club and the Librarians' Association. It was a highlight of a most successful institute.

FACULTY NOTES

On May 21, Colby College, Waterville, Maine, conferred the honorary degree of Litt.D. upon Robert B. Downs, director of the University of Illinois Library and Library School. Dr. Downs was librarian at Colby College from 1929 to 1931.

Dr. Downs spoke on "The Functions of a College Library" at a meeting of the presidents and librarians of Negro land-grant colleges in Chicago on October 24. He reviewed A. F. Kuhlman's The North Texas Regional Libraries for the July, 1944 issue of the Library Quarterly.

P. L. Windsor, director, emeritus, has his granddaughter, Elizabeth Harding, spending the year with him in Urbana while she attends the University High School, where she is a senior.

At the October meeting of the A.L.A. Council in Chicago the report on "Postwar Library Personnel," prepared by a special committee of which Dr. Stieg was a member, was presented.

Frances Simpson, assistant director, emerita, attended the sixtieth anniversary reunion of her class at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, last June. Miss Simpson reports that she and one other of the remaining five members of her class were present. She enjoyed seeing a number of Library School alumni while on this trip to Evanston and Chicago. A slightly sprained ankle marred the last day of the visit, but Miss Simpson quickly recovered and is enjoying her various professional and social activities this fall.

Ethel Bond, associate professor, spent the past summer working on her anonymous classics cataloging project.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor, attended a meeting of the Association of American Library Schools in New York, September 23-24. She is vice-president and president-elect of the Association for the coming year.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor, is on leave of absence during the current academic year to continue her graduate study at Northwestern University.

After a vacation in Michigan, Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor, spent the remainder of the summer investigating reference materials in various libraries in Michigan, Cleveland, New York, and Washington. She enjoyed meeting many alumni friends in these places and attended the dinner meeting of the Washington alumni, at which she spoke informally.

Gwladys Spencer, assistant professor, who formerly served as librarian of the Education, Philosophy and Psychology Reading Room, is now teaching full time in the Library School.

J. H. Lancaster, assistant professor, is on leave for the current semester to teach physics to A.S.T.R. students in the University.

At the September convocation of the University of Chicago, Alice Lohrer was awarded the M.A. degree by the Graduate Library School. The Committee on Library Service to Schools of the I.L.A. Planning Board, of which Miss Lohrer was chairman, presented its final report at the October meeting of the I.L.A. in Chicago. Miss Lohrer is a member of the subcommittee of the University faculty on the selection of a new president at Illinois. She is also a member of the Building Committee of the University Women's Club. Miss Lohrer spoke on November 3 at the School Library Clinic in Dupo, Illinois on the subject of library materials.

Pauline Knowles has joined the faculty as assistant and reviser in the office of the assistant director. Miss Knowles holds the A.B. degree from North Carolina College for Women and a B.S. degree from the School of Library Service of Columbia University.

Dr. Carl M. White, former director of the University of Illinois Library School, has a leave of absence from Columbia University to make a survey of Chinese libraries for the State Department. He expects to be in China for at least eight months. Mrs. White, Sherrill, and Caroline are living in Boulder, Colorado during his absence.

Florence Rising Curtis, a member of the Library School faculty, 1908-20, died on October 6, 1944, in Richmond, Indiana. Burial was at Ogdensburg, New York, her home. Miss Curtis, who received the B.L.S. degree from the New York State Library School, taught in China and the Philippines after leaving the University of Illinois. Upon her return to this country in 1922, she served as assistant director of Drexel Institute Library School, Philadelphia, and from 1925 until her retirement in 1939 was director of Hampton Institute Library School, Hampton, Virginia. Miss Curtis returned to the University of Illinois from time to time to lecture to the Library School students.

The Library School has recently received, through the kindness of Mrs. H. W. Hicks, librarian of the Lake Placid Club, Essex County, New York, a small collection of books which belonged to Katharine L. Sharp, first director of the Library School. The School's acquisition of these volumes was due to Grace A. England, B.L.S.'15, who learned of their existence at Lake Placid while vacationing there last summer and notified Director Downs of Mrs. Hicks' offer to send them to the University.

STAFF ACCORDED ACADEMIC STATUS

After thirty-three years under state and University civil service systems, the University of Illinois professional library staff this fall begins a new status. Following long study and discussion by the Library administration, the University Civil Service Committee, and the University administration, a recommendation was made by President Willard, at the June 22, 1944 meeting of the Board of Trustees, to include professional librarians in the academic staff of the University, thereby removing them from the civil service organization. The proposal was adopted by the Trustees, and the University statutes were revised to name librarians specifically in the definition of academic staff.

The change, now achieved, had been advocated for many years by the librarians, who believed that the civil service system had placed them under numerous disadvantages and that they did not properly belong in this category. The Library School faculty also aided by pointing out that the prestige and development of the School would be forwarded by proper recognition of the work of trained librarians. It is a compliment to the profession that everyone who studied the problem came to the conclusion that the librarians have a very close relationship to the educational program of the University and that their work is clearly academic in character.

LIBRARIANS' ASSOCIATION

An organization of professional members of the University of Illinois Library staff was organized in November 1942 with the title of Librarians' Association. The Association rendered active and valuable assistance to the library administration in its efforts to remove the professional staff from civil service. The members of the Association are much pleased over the new academic status.

Through its University Relations Committee, the Association sponsors a weekly program of book reviews by members of the Library Staff and University faculty, known as the "Library Hour." Displays of related books and material accompany the reviews. The "Library Hour" has evoked a great deal of interest among students, faculty, and townspeople.

The Association also sponsors an interesting staff bulletin which is published monthly from October to June. Another project, a University Library manual, is in progress.

Through its Victory Book Committee, the Association has collected, sorted, and classified a large number of gift books, sending more than 500 to the military camps in Illinois.

Officers of the Association for 1944-45 are: President, Dorothy Black; President-Elect, Lyle Bamber; Secretary-Treasurer, Avis Auld; Executive Committee members, Bernita Long and Marjorie Vivian.

NEW ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN

Humphrey G. Bousfield resigned in August to accept the librarianship of the City of Brooklyn, New York, College. He will be succeeded by Lewis C. Branscomb, Jr., who will be assistant University librarian in charge of the Public Service Departments and assistant professor of Library Science. Mr. Branscomb has been librarian of the University of South Carolina, librarian at Mercer University, and order librarian at the University of Georgia. He is a graduate of Duke University and received both his A.B. and M.A. degrees in Library Science from the University of Michigan.

MAP ROOM

For the first time, early in 1944 the University of Illinois appointed a full-time map librarian, Muriel Parry, formerly of the American Geographical Society staff. Organization of the map resources of the library has been started by Miss Parry. The library now contains a substantial collection of between 25,000 and 30,000 maps. This is a new and important development as, it has been stated, no university or college library has yet developed a map collection of first-rate importance. We hope that in time this collection of maps may be outstanding.

RARE BOOK ROOM

The holdings of the University Library in the rare book field have been steadily increasing. To protect this material, a Rare Book Room has been established with the collection formerly known as the Seventeenth Century Room serving as its nucleus. Isabelle Grant is librarian. A routine has been worked out for the care of rare books, including their segregation from the general collection, their mechanical preparation, and their location.

LIBRARY COLLECTION

The University Library, which for many years has contained more material than any other state university library, now contains 2,296,517 books, manuscripts, maps, pieces of music, and pamphlets. These holdings are exceeded by those of only four other educational institutions.

Many honors were accorded Ida Faye Wright when she retired on November 1, 1944, after nearly twenty-five years as head of the Evanston, Illinois, Public Library. A long article in the Evanston Review, September 28, quotes from the tribute paid her by the president of her library board: "There is scarcely an institution in Evanston which has not felt the impress of Miss Wright's interest and assistance. She is one of Evanston's greatest community assets. . . . She has been untiring, resourceful and vigorous. Evanston people owe more to her than they probably realize." The article reviews her many professional and community activities, as well as her outstanding work in building up the services of her own library. An editorial in the same newspaper comments: "It would be difficult to find in Evanston a public servant who has given more years of intensive and valuable service than has Miss Ida Faye Wright. . . . For these 25 busy years . . . the public library has been Miss Wright. She has made it a distinguished library . . ." A reception honoring Miss Wright was held at the library on Sunday afternoon, October 8. The library board is also establishing a collection of books to be known as the "Ida Faye Wright Appreciative Collection." A special book plate will be used, and anyone interested may contribute to the collection by sending a check to the library.

Bourne Smith had enrolled in the Library School this fall and because of his high scholastic record had been granted a scholarship from the University Graduate School. He was a graduate of the University of California Library School and had been a cataloger at Antioch College for several years. He chose Illinois for his graduate work partly because both his father and mother (formerly Christina Denny) were graduates of the Library School (B.L.S.'05 and B.L.S.'08, respectively). Class of 1916

From Accra, the Gold Coast, Africa, where she is doing library work under the auspices of the British Government, Kate D. Ferguson has sent an interesting letter to Margaret Hutchins. The message, dated March 29, 1944, comes from the following address: 40 British Council, P.O. Box 771, Accra. Miss Ferguson writes:

. . . We left England late in January and arrived here by the hit and miss method and much wallowing. . . . We called in at Dakar and at Freetown and had an opportunity to see the former town fairly thoroughly. . . . We saw the Institute d'Afrique. The young deputy curator was most enthusiastic and told me of his extensive plans to organize a central library and lending libraries throughout the French Afrique Occidental on a subscription plan, but at present there are so few books in the colony.

. . . We arrived at Achimota College after a 250 mile drive, then a flat green country with small native villages dotted along the road, endless stretches of greenery, bananas, cotton trees (kapok), mahogany, cocoa and various palms. A happy people always walking from village to village carrying babies on their backs and their goods on their heads—they'll never carry anything in their hands—all goes on their heads, numerous small goats which they use for meat.

This college, entirely for Africans, with English and African staff, is 7 miles out of Accra. We have been given a house and have now acquired a cook steward, and steward boy (the cook has hired a small boy, I don't pay him. The boy most probably pays the cook to learn the trade). Cook does all the marketing and cooking and I must say does extremely well. The steward boy looks after the house and runs errands and when I go on trips he'll come along. I'm told I can't travel alone. I suppose my informants know. Can you imagine this independent one being hemmed in so? Slowly our students are being selected by the various governments . . . and we hope to have at least five by May so that we can at least start. I go off on a trip to Cape Coast, Elmina, Sekondi Takoradi and then up into the mining country at Tarkwa. The coast towns have some of the famous old castles from Dutch and Portuguese days so I am looking forward to the trip. It really is to open my eyes and let me get a little the feel of the place. I am starting to catalog some of the Central Reference collection which we hope to build up in each colony. . . . There is no library in Accra and this college catalog is the work of many untrained hands, so we do need all the elementary help we can get. The classification battle rages in dark Africa. I hold out for Dewey as the simplest for small collections but I am absolutely ruled out so it's either going to be the Fegan Cheltenham or the Library of Congress. What a load to add to Africa's burden. Our scheme is to teach for one year, then give our students one year practical work under our supervision, and then keep on supervising. Some of them will be placed in these centers to be established as cultural community centers, others will return to their countries to run existing libraries or start some. . . .

Jobs

Whenever two or more librarians get together these days, shop talk is almost certain to get around before very long to the increasingly complex problem of personnel. Many important questions are involved: The maintenance of standards of service, professional status, salaries and budgets, professional ethics, recruiting for librarianship.

That there is a serious shortage of librarians scarcely needs proof, and that this shortage will continue for several years after the war seems almost certain. For several years library schools have graduated fewer students than would normally be necessary to replace librarians who retire, marry, or leave the profession for other reasons. Post-war plans for libraries and for library service call for expansion in many directions, which will require more librarians than ever before.

Three important considerations carry much weight with the librarian considering a new position: salary, type of work, and location. The balance between advantages and disadvantages in relation to these three items is a matter that can be solved only by the individual concerned. Rarely, if ever, does he find exactly what he wants for all three.

Salaries have increased, but not at a rate equivalent to that in other fields. Employers still insist upon strong qualifications and desirable experience, particularly for the more important openings. Standards of service can be maintained only if competent librarians provide that service. Beginners have profited most from the rise in salary levels, but the last year or two have brought adjustments all along the line.

Catalogers and school librarians are the greatest need of the profession today, judging by the requests which come to Illinois. The majority of our alumni are still more interested in college or university reference work than in any other aspect of librarianship. Many good opportunities for administrative positions in the public library field are open. Vacancies in public relations work are becoming more frequent. The demand for children's librarians is much greater than the supply, and specialists in various subject fields are at a premium. The greatest need is for junior assistants, beginners, in almost every type of work, but there is a higher percentage of openings in more responsible positions.

Illinois receives calls from more libraries in the Middle West than from those in any other part of the country, but it is definitely a school with a national clientele. The greatest variety of positions is naturally to be found in those sections of the country which have more highly developed programs of library service.

Because many opportunities are available to almost every librarian who is interested, it does not follow that professional ethics should be relaxed. Obligations between employee and employer must be observed if the personnel situation is to be kept from chaos. Advancement as the result of a move to a new position may be easier now than at any time within the past fifteen years, but professional reputation is still, and always will be, an extremely valuable asset.

Any alumnus who is interested in a new position should keep the Library School office informed of his plans and ambitions. An honest attempt is always made to come as close as possible to the preferences of the alumnus in regard to the three key items of salary, type of work, and location whenever suggestions are made for a vacancy. Only three simple facts need to be remembered to keep the placement service at as high a standard as possible:

1. Always inform the Library School office immediately of any change in address.
2. Notify the office immediately upon the acceptance of a new position.
3. Notify the office of any changes in your professional interests or requirements.

The Library School Association was organized in 1898 by alumni of the University of Illinois Library School, for the advancement of the interests of the School and for the promotion of social relations among its members. Reunion dinners and meetings are held at conferences of the American Library Association and at state library association meetings. The Library School Association has endowed the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship and the Windsor Publication Fund. Both annual and life memberships are needed for the support of the Scholarship. The Association publishes the News Letter twice each year. NEWS LETTER

The Library School and the Future

PLANNING HAS BECOME THE FAVORITE INDOOR sport of the American people. Apparently every social group, every profession, has been subjected to searching analysis with an eye to what should be done about the future. Education of all types and librarianship in all its aspects have received their full share of attention. Library schools must therefore consider the planners on both sides—those in the educational field of which they are a part, and those in the library profession which they attempt to serve. The University of Illinois Library School is making plans for the future, drawing upon the experience and conclusions of others and contributing, it hopes, something new of its own. It is trying, however, to avoid any tendency toward the substitution of unrestrained exercise of the imagination for sound thinking.

The American Library Association has completed important work on planning for various types of libraries. At the present time it is circularizing all members in the armed forces to try to discover their current ideas about many different things, including education for librarianship. The University of Illinois has already received from alumni in service thousands of letters about the University and what its place in the post-war world should be. Much of this material has been available and helpful to the Library School faculty in plotting the future course of the School. The faculty has also sent a letter to the alumni who have temporarily abandoned the book for the sword, asking for specific information about the aid which the School can give them when demobilization begins. But for long term planning it needs the ideas and experience of all the alumni, whether in military service, in war work, or in library service.

THE LIBRARY OF THE

The University of Illinois Library School had already completed one lap of the race when post-war planning first became the order of the day. It was in the process of making a thorough investigation of its activities as a preliminary step in the re-organization of the curriculum. A new curriculum has now been offered for one academic year. Its dominant characteristic is a double-barreled flexibility. It is sufficiently elastic to permit any necessary adaptations to meet changing needs of the library profession. Although its form and scope are fairly well established, it should never become set and crystallized. From the point of view of the first-year student the new curriculum permits a wide range for the development of individual interests during the second semester. A more varied and comprehensive program is available to graduate students. The faculty believes that the educational machinery of the Library School has been successfully streamlined and prepared for whatever demands the immediate future may make upon it.

During the first semester of the present year two non-credit courses were offered in Springfield in cooperation with the Illinois State Library. One was planned primarily for clerical and sub-professional members of the State Library staff, providing them with an efficient method of acquiring an understanding of the fundamental principles and techniques of library service. The other was a series of lectures and discussions for graduate librarians, offering an opportunity to librarians in the field to bring themselves up to date on recent developments in their profession. The courses were not restricted to members of the State Library staff, but were open to all interested. The experience of the School with these two courses should be invaluable in meeting two probable post-war problems.

Until larger units of service become a fact rather than a plan, the Library School is obligated to help those individuals responsible for the service provided by the small, independent library. Extra-mural, non-credit courses at an "accelerated" pace may prove more satisfactory than the traditional "commission" type of training. "Refresher" courses will undoubtedly be requested by many librarians after the war. The experience of the School at Springfield should be particularly helpful in this connection.

The Library School has been experimenting for some time with psychological tests of various kinds in the hope of securing a more satisfactory basis for determining its admission policies. During the past year the faculty has approved the first step in the process of substituting the information secured from modern testing techniques for the rigid and often unsatisfactory measurements that have been traditionally used. Admission problems will undoubtedly be complex and difficult in the post-war period. Perhaps new techniques will aid in simplifying them.

A faculty committee is working on the question of recruiting, one of the most serious problems of the whole library profession. The aid of the alumni, both as individuals and as a group, is essential in finding a satisfactory solution in so far as the Library School is concerned. Group action may be difficult without the facilities of A.L.A. conferences and state meetings, but recruiting is a problem of the future as well as of the present. Plans should be made now to expedite action when travel restrictions no longer prevent the gathering of the Illini clan.

The University of Illinois Library School is with justification proud of the loyalty and support of its alumni. The faculty would welcome the ideas and help of a professional group whose judgment it knows is sound and whose attitude is forward-looking.

Director Emeritus Windsor attended a meeting of the Advisory Committee of the Illinois State Library in Chicago April 5. The conference was held to consider the drafting of a bill to provide for a number of regional library demonstrations during the next biennium. Mr. Windsor has accepted the chairmanship of the Library Development Fund campaign for Illinois.

Lewis F. Stieg, assistant director, was the editor of the recently published Union List of Printed Collections of Source Materials on European History in New York State Libraries, Preliminary Edition. The mimeographed publication was issued by the Committee on Bibliographies and Surveys of the New York Library Association. Dr. Stieg is a member of the Committee on Research of the Association of American Library Schools.

Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Emma R. Jutton, circulation librarian and Ethel Bond, associate professor, at the Illini Union on May 18. The party of fourteen celebrated Miss Simpson's eighty-second birthday.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor, this year assumes the presidency of the Association of American Library Schools.

Ethel Bond, associate professor, attended a meeting of the Chicago Regional Group of Catalogers in Chicago, May 1.

Marie M. Hostetter, on leave from her duties as assistant professor, writes that she has been enjoying her year of study at Northwestern University. She sees many alumni and attended the North Shore Librarians dinner and meeting last fall. Miss Hostetter will return to teach in the summer session of the Library School.

He will also be professor of Library Science, teaching courses in library service and materials and methods of research. Mr. Lancaster presided at the first general session of the Ohio State Library Conference at Columbus on January 30, the program consisting of a panel discussion of the topic: "Shall We Have Another 'Lost' and 'Unwanted' Generation in the Postwar World?" By special request of the Association, Mr. Lancaster has continued to serve as its vice-president.

Alice Lohrer, instructor in Library Science, has been invited to participate in the Annual Reading Conference to be held at the University of Chicago in July. She will lead discussion of a paper to be given by Robert White, principal of the high school and dean of the junior colleges of Burlington, Iowa. Miss Lohrer gave a talk on children's books, April 18, on the weekly "Library Hour" program sponsored by the Librarians Association of the University Library.

Donna Finger, librarian of the Library School Library, is listed in the "1944 Honors List" in Library Service News, alumni publication of the Columbia University School of Library Service. INSPECTION TRIP

Chicago and suburban libraries were visited by first year Library School students April 4-7 on their annual inspection trip. The tour included Rosary College, Oak Park and River Forest Township High School, Chicago Public Library, John Crerar and Newberry libraries, A.L.A. Headquarters, Quar-rie Corporation, and the Hertzberg Bindery. Dr. Stieg and Miss Bond were in charge. Because of the transportation situation, the group went by train and depended upon street cars and public busses to get around in the city.

VISITING LECTURERS

Library School students heard a talk on library extension work in Indiana by Hazel Warren, chief of the Extension Division of the Indiana State Library, who visited the School on March 28 and 29. Another visitor was Helen Brown, librarian of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois, who talked to the students April 12 on readers' advisory service in the college library.

SHARP MEMORIAL TABLET

The Katharine L. Sharp bronze memorial tablet in the Library School corridor has been much improved recently by the installation of a fluorescent light.

ILLINOIS BROADCASTS

The University of Illinois Library and the Library School assumed joint sponsorship of a weekly radio program which began in February 1945. The half hour broadcast, entitled THE LIBRARY PRESENTS —, is heard each Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. over W I L L, the 5000 watt station of the University which operates on a frequency of 580 kilocycles. The station covers most of Illinois and a large section of western Indiana.

Gwladys Spencer, assistant professor of Library Science, represents the School on the planning committee, whose chairman is Lewis C. Branscomb, Jr., assistant University librarian in charge of Public Service Departments and assistant professor of Library Science. Other members of the committee are Fern DeBeck Davis, '28, M.A.'33, Ruth W. Nimtz, '42 and Arnold H. Trotier, M.A.'32.

Topics of a wide variety are offered, including talks by subject specialists in the library, in the University, and among the townspeople, reviews of current magazine articles of widespread interest, and informative interviews and dialogues by library staff members designed to bring out the more interesting phases of library service. An effort has been made to get away from the overworked, stereotyped book review broadcast, although each program relates itself to books or libraries in one way or another. Sample broadcasts include such topics as "The Beginning of Books," given by Director Downs as the first of the series, "Bacteriology and Warfare," "Reviews of Current Magazine Articles," and "Mexico in Books." The program will be suspended during the summer months of July, August and September.

The comments and suggestions of alumni regarding this program will be welcomed and may be sent either to W I L L or to Mr. Branscomb.

Alumni in Armed Forces and War Work

Recent Addresses and Other Information

ARMY CITATIONS TO ALUMNAE

Two Library School alumnae have recently been cited by the War Department "for meritorious civilian service." Mary Alice Matthews, B.L.S. '03, who at the age of seventy-three emerged from retirement to assist at the Army War College Library, was commended in the following terms in an official citation: "She has performed an important and difficult task with exemplary skill and ability and in a manner and under conditions that have set a distinct and unusual record of achievement." The War Times, a weekly for War Department personnel, devotes an article in its November 17, 1944, issue to an account of Miss Matthews' "outstanding service to the Army War College Library" during the present emergency. In her cataloging of the 10,000 or more books which constituted her task, Miss Matthews is said to have accomplished several hundred per cent more work than the chief of the Library had considered possible in his preliminary estimate of the job to be done.

Following the completion of her work at the Army War College Library, Miss Matthews spent the winter in Miami, Florida. Her home address is 144 B Street, N.E., Washington, D.C.

A similar citation has been received by Becky Sanford, B.S.'37, M.A.'40, librarian of the AAF Basic Advanced Flying School, United States Military Academy, Stewart Field, Newburgh, New York. It reads: "For meritorious service in developing, substantially on her own initiative, a library which is a source of pride to Stewart Field, as a part of the United States Military Academy." The document further commends Miss Sanford's "unusual ability and resourcefulness" in the selection and housing of the collection of 7400 volumes, and in publicizing the resources of the library "in such an ingenious and attractive manner as to cause exceptionally high participation, thus materially benefiting the morale and educational opportunities of Army personnel." Miss Sanford became librarian of Stewart Field in December 1942 when the collection consisted of a few books donated during the Victory Book campaign. Under her supervision five other libraries were set up at Stewart Field—the Aeronautical Library, the Medical Library, the Nurses' Reference Library, the Engineering Library, and the Officers' Library. The Interlaken Mills "Library Outline No. 63," in Library Journal, March 1, 1945, includes photographs of Miss Sanford and the attractive interior of her library.

ALUMNAE IN WAR SERVICE

Stella Kauffman Binkele (Mrs. Otto Binkele), B.S.'36, is librarian of George Field, Illinois. Librarian at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, before her marriage, Mrs. Binkele returned to the Army library service when her husband was sent overseas. She visited the University of Illinois in February en route to a conference of Army librarians of the Sixth Service Command at Chanute Field.

In February Margaret Bird, B.S.'40, returned to the Gardiner General Hospital, Chicago, as librarian. She had formerly served there as assistant librarian, leaving to become librarian of George Field, Illinois. She attended the February conference of Army librarians at Chanute Field, stopping at the University of Illinois for a visit on the way.

The ten months I have been here passed almost like so many weeks. . . . Last month an interesting assignment took me through a good deal of France. The tour of duty finally ended in Paris, and a return to London via plane." Lt. Bertalan mentions having visited the magnificent cathedrals of Canterbury, Rouen, Bayeux, and Notre Dame de Paris. "While in Paris I was fortunate in having been able to attend a performance of 'Le Jongleur de Notre Dame', and it was really impressive because a few hours previously I was inspecting the same cathedral." Lt. Bertalan also reports that his thesis, for the master's degree in Library Science at the University of Illinois, was then practically finished. "What an experience working on that thing—in Urbana, Chicago, Northampton, Massachusetts, Norfolk, Bermuda, and where most of it was completed—in London." He mentions getting experience in speaking German with the civilian population of this part of France. Corporal Kenney writes of his pleasure at receiving the University of Illinois Library Staff Bulletin. Frequency of the News Letter

Please note that the News Letter is now being issued twice a year, in the late spring and late fall. As the number at the top of the title page indicates, this is number 36 in the series, counting from the first issue. The News Letter published last fall was number 35. We call attention to this because apparently some alumni, confusing this number with the numbering of the whole University series, have been under the impression that they are not receiving all issues.

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

NEWS LETTER SCOOP!

Through the unwitting connivance of the local chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority the News Letter was able to obtain this recent photograph of Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita. Miss Simpson is shown, surrounded as usual by young friends, at the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration of the sorority in October. She spoke at the dinner held by the University of Illinois chapter, of which she was one of the founders.

THE LIBRARY OF THE

FEB 4 1946

Report to the Alumni

By ROBERT B. DOWNS, Director

The Library School is starting this fall its first term for a long period when the country was not at war or threatened by war. During the past six years, of course, the second world war has raged, and library education, along with virtually every other type of professional education, has been vitally affected. A resumption of "normal" conditions cannot, for various reasons, be expected immediately. War veterans are returning to the campus in increasing numbers, and some of them are entering the Library School, but thousands of former University students, prospective students, and faculty members are still in military and governmental service. The date when all will return home is extremely uncertain.

Enrollment in the Library School, which fell to a critically low point under the impact of war, now shows signs of a quick revival. For the first-year group, figures for 1945-46 are double those of 1944-45. The total for the second-year class is smaller, though the number of full-time students is substantially larger than for the previous year. Even if this and other library schools reach capacity enrollments in the near future, however, the gap caused by the war will not be filled until 1950 or later. That fact emphasizes the desirability of an immediate campaign to recruit capable library school students, starting them on the training phase of their careers as promptly as is practicable.

One result of the nation-wide shortage of library personnel is an extraordinary strain on the Library School's placement service. Employers from every part of the country, representing every kind of library, are requesting help from the School in finding suitable prospects for vacancies. Alumni available for positions are only a fraction of the number required for these openings. In such a competitive market, salary levels are naturally making substantial rises. New scales adopted by the Library of Congress and other federal libraries may be expected to have favorable repercussions on library salary trends in general.

The new curriculum adopted by the Library School faculty in 1944 has now been in operation for one full year, and on the whole the experience with it has been highly satisfactory. The faculty believes, though, that curricular matters should be the subject of continuous study, never allowed to become too fixed and inflexible. A standing committee on the curriculum has therefore been established, having as its objectives the improvement of teaching methods, the enrichment of course content, the consideration of new fields of instruction, and otherwise providing a thorough and progressive program of preparation for librarianship in all major fields.

As reported elsewhere by Dr. Stieg, in summarizing replies to the School's V-J Day letter, considerable interest is apparent in the proposal for a doctoral degree in library science at Illinois. For the past several months a special faculty committee has been investigating different aspects of this problem, and recommendations for action may be expected soon. By offering refresher courses and by adapting its regular program to their needs, the School also stands ready, if justified by the demand, to assist war veterans and other alumni who were forced to interrupt their professional careers.

It now seems probable that library association conferences will be scheduled as usual, beginning with the coming year. These meetings will again afford opportunities for alumni gatherings, at which I hope to become better acquainted with the Library School's graduates and to seek their counsel on the School's future growth and development.

Veterans' Preference

Summary of Replies to the V-J Day Questionnaire

By LEWIS F. STIEG, Assistant Director

On V-J Day the Library School office mailed 159 letters and questionnaires to alumni in the armed forces and in war work. By the first of November a fair sampling of replies had been received in spite of difficulties with the mails and in spite of the fact that most of these people were probably much too busy to be bothered with questionnaires.

The School was interested primarily in two things: to prepare itself to give efficient and rapid placement service to alumni as soon as the discharge pin was fastened into the lapel of a new suit; and to plan its educational program with reference to the needs of those alumni who would be interested in further study.

With very few exceptions, alumni on leave are not interested in returning to former positions. The reason is easy to see when one learns of some of the things our G.I. alumni have been doing during the past three years or so. Many have been assigned to positions of great responsibility, and others have earned recognition for important achievements. They are, therefore, ready for much more responsible and challenging positions than those they left during what must seem to them like the Middle Ages before the war.

When they entered service, about 60 per cent of these librarians were in the college and university field, 22 per cent in some kind of public library work, and the others were about equally divided among school libraries, special libraries, and non-library positions. The public-library people have remained faithful and, almost without exception, wish to return to that type of work. But instead of 60 per cent we now find only 50 per cent interested in the college and university field. Less than 5 per cent are interested in school libraries. Special libraries are now the first choice of more than 20 per cent. In many cases experience with special libraries connected with the war effort has developed the new interest. But, whatever the cause, it is a sufficiently strong motivation to result in very definite ideas and ambitions.

Alumni were divided almost two to one in their replies regarding the desirability of a refresher course of some kind before accepting a new position, with the majority in favor of it. Opinions as to what it should be and how long it should last were just about as numerous as the replies. The suggested period of study ranged from one to sixteen weeks, with a slight preponderance of votes for a six-weeks period. The favorite topic seems to be library literature of the last three years with emphasis on "new ideas" and "recent innovations." Several people mentioned the value of visiting libraries, particularly those which have developed new types of service.

The refresher course for veterans is a problem which the faculty must solve very soon. The replies to this question give some definite data on which to base decisions. Whatever plan is adopted, it will be an attempt to meet the individual needs of as many alumni as possible.

About half of our alumni in the Services are interested in advanced study, almost all of them in the field of librarianship. Many will benefit from the educational provisions in the "G.I. Bill of Rights" and plan to begin work for the Master's degree almost immediately. To the question "Would you be interested in a program leading to the Ph.D. in Library Science if Illinois were to offer it?," nearly half replied "Yes." Many added comments which will be very helpful to the special faculty committee which will be concerned with the matter during the current academic year. It is a question on which the Committee would welcome an expression of opinion from all alumni.

CLASS OF 1946

The first-year class of 1946, fifty-two in number, includes two students—one man and one woman—registered under the G.I. Bill of Rights. The new students were informally introduced at a Hallowe'en party given on October 30 by the Library Club. Director and Mrs. Downs were at home to students and faculty of the Library School on Sunday, November 4.

FACULTY NOTES

Director Downs spent three weeks during September and October at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, as consultant in the reorganization of the library and in the preparation of plans for a new library building for the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics.

On October 1-3 Mr. Downs represented the American Library Association at a national conference on educational statistics called by the United States Office of Education in Washington, D.C. In a similar capacity he attended, November 23-24, a meeting in New York City of the Library of Congress committee to advise on the distribution of foreign acquisitions.

Mr. Downs attended the meetings of the Association of Research Libraries last summer at the New York Public Library, where he presented a report of the Committee on Statistics of Library Holdings, of which he is chairman.

P. L. Windsor, director emeritus, was honored last June by the Northwestern University Alumni Association, which presented him with its 1945 award of merit. The award, given annually for outstanding achievement in business or professional life, was made at the alumni luncheon during the Commencement festivities at Evanston, Illinois. The citation accompanying the award praises Mr. Windsor as "a citizen of the highest type who has served untiringly in educational and civic capacities and has generously and unstintingly given of his knowledge without seeking personal recognition."

Lewis F. Stieg, assistant director, reviewed for the Library Journal of September 15, 1945, Edward A. Wight's Evaluation and Revision of the Library School Curriculum and The Program of Instruction in Library Schools, by Keyes D. Metcalf and others. Mr. Stieg attended the Institute on Personnel Administration in Libraries, in Chicago August 27-September 1.

Frances Simpson, director emerita, spent the month of August in Manchester, Vermont. She spent a day with the Cleavingers at their home at Brandon, Vermont.

Ethel Bond, associate professor, is vice-president and president-elect of the Division of Cataloging and Classification of the American Library Association for 1945-1946. She attended a meeting of the Board in Cleveland in July.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor, has assumed the presidency of the Association of American Library Schools. Miss Boyd also served on the Subcommittee on Library School Curricula of the Adult Education Board which sponsored a series of articles on "Preparation for Library Adult Education" in the ALA Bulletin September, 1945.

Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor, is on leave of absence for the academic year. She will spend the winter in Tucson, Arizona, and other parts of the Southwest. Miss Phelps flew from St. Louis October 14 and expects to return about May 1.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor, is also on leave for the year. Miss Hostetter is continuing her graduate studies at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Alice Lohrer, instructor in Library Science, has been elected vice-president and president-elect of the Illinois Library Association. Miss Lohrer attended the Institute on Personnel Administration in Libraries in Chicago last summer while studying at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School. She took part in a number of library discussion meetings in various parts of the state during the fall semester. She is also assisting Coronet Instructional Films in the production of a film for teaching the use of library materials to high school students. Miss Lohrer is serving as president of the University of Illinois Library Club.

Norma B. Cass, reference librarian of the University of Kentucky Library, is teaching the courses in reference and government publications this year during the absence of Miss Phelps.

AN AUDIO-VISUAL COLLECTION FOR THE LIBRARY SCHOOL

The Library School has begun to build a sample audio-visual collection for demonstration purposes in connection with the course it offers on Audio-Visual Materials and Library Service. A single broad subject, China (the country), has been chosen as a basis in order to provide opportunity for extensive development that can be reasonably satisfactory and thoroughly interesting within one wide field, and which can at the same time present many examples of possibilities for exhibits on minor divisions within the broad field—even for other general subjects. It is expected that this model collection on China will eventually prove to be outstanding for general comprehensiveness, for completeness of detail, and for fertility of suggestiveness to aid librarians and teachers in discovering methods for utilizing all types of audio-visual materials with informational and educational values.

Reasons for the choice of subject are numerous. China carries a special significance for those who are library-minded, inasmuch as it can claim many "firsts" in the book world: for example, it is first in the invention of printing (the earliest account of movable wooden type is found in Chinese history), of printers' ink, of rag paper, of the block-printed book, and of woodblock illustrations.

China has a long history, an old culture. Of unusual import is its ancient written language which is based upon ideographs, rather than upon an alphabet. One of the new items in our Chinese Collection is a case (about the size of a shoe-box) filled with "flash cards" which explain these ideographs and their use for the language. Kurt Wiese's new il-illustrated book for children, You Can Write Chinese, by the way, will give you an excellent idea of the illustrations on these "flash cards," which are for adult use.

Today, China looms large in the public consciousness, and for a long time to come it promises to remain in the foreground as one of the great powers. Therefore, quickly-acquired knowledge of Chinese customs and manners, literature, science, and arts may be expected to serve purposes in many directions, both cultural and commercial, if we wish better to understand the postwar world into which we are entering. And audio-visual aids are now available that offer short-cuts to rapid acquisition of knowledge about a great variety of places. This collection on China will perforce cut across a wide range of topics and can well demonstrate how these same topics can be similarly employed to illustrate facts about any other country.

The Library School will appreciate any contributions of appropriate materials from the alumni. We hope there are many persons among you who have good models or specimens of Chinese design and creation which you would be willing to give for such a long-time purpose and wide usefulness. Incidentally, we hope the collection will eventually prove to be sufficiently outstanding to attract people from other states to visit it.

Plans have been made to care suitably for particularly valuable materials, and all will be well labeled with the donor's name, as well as with suggestions for instructional utilization of the specific item. If you have any object or picture which you think is pertinent to this new Chinese Collection of Audio-Visual Materials, and which you would like to give, please write to the undersigned, who is in charge of the project. We hope for a very generous response so that we may build a permanent exhibition of which the Library School and all its graduates may well be proud.

EXTENSION COURSES

Through the Extension Division of the University, the Library School is continuing to offer the two extramural courses in Springfield, Illinois. For clerical assistants a series of lectures on the functions and objectives of the modern American library is being given by Dr. Stieg. For professional librarians a series of lectures on recent books in various subject fields is being offered by members of the University faculty. The latter series has been arranged by Lewis C. Branscomb, assistant librarian, Public Service Departments, of the University Library.

These extramural courses carry no academic credit and are offered, as last year, primarily as a feature of the in-service training program sponsored by the Civil Service Commission for state employees.

RADIO BROADCAST

The weekly radio broadcast, "The Library Presents—," begun last February under the joint sponsorship of the University Library and the Library School, was resumed on October 10 after being off the air during the summer. The time of the broadcast, over the University of Illinois Station WILL, has been changed to 2:30 P.M. on Wednesdays.

University of Illinois Library News

NEW CIRCULATION LIBRARIAN

Katharine M. Stokes assumed the position of circulation librarian of the University of Illinois Library on September 1, succeeding Emma R. Jutton, retired. Miss Stokes came to the University from Pennsylvania State College Library, where she was in charge of Readers' Service. She took her first year of library training at Simmons College, Boston, and received the Master's degree in Library Science at the University of Michigan in August 1945.

STATE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY LIBRARY

A new departmental library, for the State Geological Survey, was opened in July in the Natural Resources Building. Mrs. Regina Lewis, the librarian, received her B.S. in L.S. degree at Columbia. She comes to Illinois from the United States Geological Survey in Washington, D.C. This new library will cooperate closely with the University Library.

Alumni Still in Uniform

Changes of address have been so frequent for Gerard Baker, B.S.'36, M.S.'40, that he writes, "I begin to get nervous after I have been in one place for a few weeks." A letter of July 26 told of his assignment to Hawaii where, at that time, he was in charge of two Italian prisoner of war companies. He mentioned having seen two Library School alumnae, Lucile Huntington Wilkinson at the Library of Hawaii and Gale Sakai at the University Library. A later letter tells of his transfer to "Hilo on the Big Island (Hawaii) to take charge of two compounds of Koreans. I have been told that the situation over there is much superior to the one here so perhaps in a month or so I will change my idea of the Hawaiian Islands but just now I do not think that the place is worth taking the trip to see." His address is Lt. J. G. Baker, O-268346, P.W. Branch Camp, Cpd. 12, A.P.O. 960, c/o PM, San Francisco, California.

From Hawaii on October 10 Rose Baldwin, B.S.'44, wrote Ethel Bond of her interesting experiences in the Navy. She "was lucky enough to get overseas duty just before the war ended," making the trip from the States by air. Miss Baldwin's address is: L. R. Baldwin, Sp(Q)2/c, U.S. Naval Barracks (WR), Navy #128, c/o FPO, San Francisco, California.

Jewel D. Kennemer, B.S.'37, is classifying and cataloging textbooks in the GI University, Shrivenham American University, Shrivenham, England. Before joining the army, Sgt. Kennemer was assistant librarian of the State Teachers College, Commerce, Texas. His wife, the former Dorothy Morgan, S.S.'36, lives at 1710 Live Oak Street, Commerce, Texas.

Louis A. Kenney, B.S.'40, wrote on September 27 from London, England: "You may be interested to know that I have just completed a one month's course of training for librarians here in England. During the first week we visited libraries in the London area under the guidance of the Library Association. This included the British Museum, London School of Economics, H. M. Stationery Office, Public Records Office, and many others. At the end of this week of tours I went to Sheffield in Yorkshire for three weeks of 'on the job training'. There I was assigned to the Main Public Library. The librarian, Mr. Lamb, warmly welcomed me and arranged a schedule so that I got a good look in on all the phases of librarianship there. I have enjoyed this training in England very much indeed. Right now I am awaiting plane passage back to Austria."

Mr. Kenney has been stationed at Kufstein, Austria for some time and has written of a trip to nearby Innsbruck which afforded an opportunity to enjoy the magnificent mountain scenery and picturesque towns of the Inn River Valley. Early in the summer he taught a class for servicemen on the organization and operation of a small Army library. The course, based on instruction Mr. Kenney had himself received earlier in Paris, was preliminary to the setting up of small libraries in his Division of the European Theater of War. Corporal Kenney's address is: Cpl. Louis A. Kenney, Hq. Btry., 542 F.A. Bn., A.P.O. 411, c/o PM, New York, N.Y.

According to news received in October, Lawrence J. Kipp, B.S.'41, was in Hawaii. His address is S/Sgt. L. J. Kipp, 36439855, 544th B Hq & AB Sq, APO 959, c/o PM, San Francisco, California.

Latest address received for Charles R. Knapp, B.S.'40, on leave from the Law Library, University of Illinois, is: Sgt. Charles R. Knapp, 329 AAFBU, Squadron A, Alexandria Army Air Field, Alexandria, Louisiana.

Joe W. Kraus, B.S.'39, M.A.'41, on leave from the Circulation Department, University of Illinois Library, has been assigned to Headquarters, Air Technical Service Command, as assistant chief of the Reference Branch, Technical Data Laboratory, Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. He is in charge of the four branches of the library and the Special Documents and Collections Unit. He may be addressed as follows: Lt. Joe W. Kraus, Hq., Air Technical Service Command, TSEAL-6G Area "B," Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

In a letter of July 30, Ralph E. McCoy, B.S.'39, writes that after a year and a half in the 42d Infantry Division he was sent to the Officers Candidate School at Camp Lee, Virginia, receiving his commission last February. He was assigned to the faculty of the Quartermaster School at Camp Lee, where his work consists of research and writing of technical publications for the War Department. He also serves as officer-advisor of the Quartermaster Technical Library, which is under the supervision of a civilian librarian with civilian and WAC assistants. "My work is interesting," he adds, "for it keeps me in contact with library facilities (after 1½ years in the infantry where I practically never saw a book), and it brings me in touch with interesting persons in various technical fields. My wife, Melba McKibben, '39, and our 3-year-old boy are with me, living about 4 miles out from Petersburg, Virginia."

Bette Patterson, B.S.'41, M.A.'44, flew to Paris from New York, October 17, to serve as an Army librarian in Europe. Miss Patterson writes of a comfortable trip in a C-54, cargo plane, and describes the beauty of the view as the ship took off over New York in the moonlight, the stop-over for breakfast in Newfoundland, the first sight of the Azores and the departure from there in a gorgeous sunset, and the arrival at Paris just twenty and one-half hours after leaving New York. After several days of sight-seeing in Paris, Miss Patterson was to report to Frankfurt, Germany, for a definite assignment.

LeRoy L. Qualls, B.S.'39, on leave from his position as newspaper librarian, University of Illinois Library, wrote on September 9 from Manus Island: "I just left the country on 13 August. . . . During June and July, I was under instruction at the Bureau of Naval Personnel in the program of Educational Services. I am now assistant educational services officer here on Manus Island, with the Repair Unit. . . .

"The island is largely coral and coconut trees, but it has a wonderful harbor, where the Philippine invasion fleet was staged. There are a few thousand natives in the Admiralties, mostly on Manus. They are in the charge of the Australian government. In fact, this is so much of an Australian region that everyone drives on the left side of the road. When I get out a jeep, I'll have to concentrate on keeping to the left.

"The base has been well built up during the eighteen months since it was taken from the Japs. Roads are good (courtesy of the Sea Bees!) and covered with coral to get rid of the mud. It rains nearly every day, but that keeps it cooler. We live in huts that are floored with plywood boards, roofed with canvas, and have screened sides to let in air and keep out insects. Malaria is well under control." His address is: Ens. LeRoy L. Qualls, U.S.N.R., Repair Unit, Navy 3205, FPO Branch A, c/o FPO, San Francisco, California.

T. E. Ratcliffe, B.S.'40, writes on September 20 of his work as librarian of Shrivenham American University, England: "The school opened with much fanfare on 1 August—without one book on the open shelves in the library and behind the desk on reserve everything thoughtful instructors had had the foresight to bring along with their personal baggage from the States. Aside from a few crates of texts in process of being unpacked, there was nothing available—shipments from the States had not been heard from. With hurried calls to the theater librarian in Paris, the United Kingdom librarian in London, the Red Cross and Special Services and loud blasting appeals throughout the country side, books started pouring in. Evacuating hospitals, air bases, Red Cross units and uprooted Englishmen with hands full of miscellaneous trivia shipped all their conglomerate stocks to us until we had the corridors outside the library stacked with packing cases. But because some of the collections had been built with some eye for specialized study, several hundred titles of real worth were salvaged—and from this salvage the nucleus of the present collection of nearly six thousand volumes was formed. With only a few trained personnel on hand, getting the chaos straightened into some orderliness was for the first few weeks an almost overwhelming task, especially with the accompanying effort to keep the civilian instructors out of our hair with the persuasion that with patience all would be well. The shipments from the States started arriving, and with notification of the new titles available, instructors beamed on our staff with such gratified thankfulness that we were soon regarded with such reverence that we had to keep our halos polished.

"In comparison with what a library for a student body of 4,000 should be, we are, obviously, in a very poor way. But for the immediacy of need and energy of acquisition, we have managed superlatively. Except in our own initiative, we have no function as acquirers, that prerogative being assumed by the academic division of the school through which requisitions are submitted and orders (if any) placed. We function primarily as keepers of the storehouse—but many leads we have had to private collections of Englishmen who were generously disposed have been followed to our good fortune (socially, as well as bibliophilically speaking). We hope to attain a collection of approximately 10,000 volumes which will fill the space facilities available—somewhat reminiscent in size and shape of the reference room at Illinois, the room is a converted mess hall in the most accessible building on the campus. We have most of the basic reference materials necessary for general undergraduate study, a mammoth fiction collection—but suffer through total absence of periodicals of any description whatever. Our library tools are hardly basic or adequate, but we are organized on the simplest possible lines, the catalogue (now with the handsome total of about seven feet—how many thousand is that? —of cards) is not complex with stilted and scholarly subject entries and is divided into two separate files: authors, and subjects and titles. Pressure at the "desk" has been reduced almost 75% since the catalogue has been put into use. We are asked for such varied services as any ordinary library—from permission to use one of our girls (there are five English girls who do charges, etc.—some quite decorative!) as a model for the "live" art classes to a list of addresses of American shipping firms with offices in London, and with most of the miscellanei we customarily give satisfactory accommodations. The British are much impressed with our facilities, occasional Chinese visitors amazed at our "adequacy," and the Canadians have used us as a model for the library of their school recently established north of London. The faculty, officer-instructors as well as imported civilians, are tolerant with our short-comings and complimentary to our good qualities. Our 302 chairs are always filled as are the sixty-odd easy chairs in the lounge-corridors at either end of the room, relighted and redecorated at our insistence to make the approaches to our premises more inviting. We have tried to add touches of élan to the room by exhibitions of book jackets, wall maps, and the most recent photographs from the laboratory theater productions, and are pleased to believe our facilities are enjoyed." His address is: Capt. T. E. Ratcliffe, 01168874, Library, Academic Division, Shrivenham American University, APO 756, c/o Postmaster, New York, N.Y.

Most recent address of Ruth L. Schweickart, B.S.'34, on leave from the Catalog Department, University of Illinois Library is: Ruth L. Schweickart, Sp(Q)3c, WAVE Qts. D, Bk. 12-246, Washington, 16, D.C.

Dwight W. Shannon, B.S.'42, wrote to the Library School from the Philippines, May 19, 1945: "Being a loyal Illinois man and very much interested in the library world, I usually am on the prowl for prospective librarians. I think I have found one . . .

"I was a hospital librarian in the Army back in the States for 18 months, but am now doing strictly medical work, i.e., evacuating wounded from the port. I'm now with a medical battalion of the 32d Infantry Division in the midst of a tough mountain campaign. I often think of what a grand job you members of the Library School are doing in training young librarians. Please accept my best wishes for all of you." Corporal Shannon's address at the time of writing was: Cpl. Dwight W. Shannon, Co. D, 107th Med. Bn., APO 32 c/o PM, San Francisco, California.

Geneva Smith, B.S.'45, is assistant in the United States Naval Hospital Library, Norfolk, Virginia.

From England Rolland E. Stevens, B.S.'40, writes, in a letter of September 11: "This battalion was recently scheduled for shipment to the States, and thence, after a furlough, to the Pacific. But the quick end of the war caused the War Dept. to change these orders, and, although our future activities aren't yet known to us, it seems likely that we'll stay here for a little while.

"At present, we are not engaged in operations, but are attempting to keep the men usefully employed, while waiting for new orders, with an educational and athletic program. I am teaching classes in French and German by the Linguaphone method, and having a good time doing it. We play softball every afternoon, and have occasional tours to nearby points of interest. This camp lies in the heart of a very old part of the country, culturally speaking. Salisbury is 17 miles to the south, Bath is about 25 miles northwest, and Stonehenge is between here and Salisbury. There are plenty of evidences of old settlements, Stone Age, Saxon, Roman, Norman, etc. We are about 3 hours from London, too, and all of us make an occasional trip to the city." Cpl. Stevens' address is Heytesbury, Wilts, England.

A charming little sketch by Technical Sergeant James Still, B.S.'31, appears in the July issue of the Atlantic. The story, "Mrs. Razor," is told in the idiom of the Kentucky mountains where Mr. Still was formerly librarian of the Hindman Settlement School at the fork of Troublesome Creek. He is now with the Army Air Forces.

Mrs. Thompson, formerly administrative assistant in the Processing Department, Library of Congress, took a fifteen day training course with the Red Cross last summer and left for Italy on August 7. She assists in planning recreational work for servicemen.

In a letter of October 9, Albin H. Youngquist, B.S.'39, relates his experiences in Manila, Philippine Islands, where he has been stationed as an Army censor. He was present at the arraignment of General Yamashita and describes his impressions of this event in considerable detail. Equally interesting was his interview with the sister of José Rizal, the Philippine national hero, at the home of the aged woman. Mr. Youngquist also tells of attending a Sunday service, arranged for Unitarian soldiers, at the local "Aglipayan" church, and of hearing a speech by Manuel Roxas, contender for the Philippine Presidency, at the anniversary day celebration of the University of Manila. Mr. Youngquist adds: "By coincidence I met the Law co-ed who wrote No G.I. Joe for Me (in The Campus Leader) and To the Women." Mr. Youngquist's address is: Lt. Albin H. Youngquist, Base Censor, APO 75, c/o PM, San Francisco, California.

Paul T. H. Chen, librarian of Nanking Theological Seminary, Nanking, China, has recently sent greetings to the Library School, and to his American friends. The letter dated September 26 was brought to the United States by the repatriated American wife of a colleague. Mr. Chen inquires especially about Herbert Hearsey, a classmate of his Library School days. He expresses his elation over the outcome of the war and his hopefulness for the future, and the gratitude of the Chinese people toward America. "When the American airplanes and officers reached Shanghai there was the biggest parade that I have ever seen, with yells, cheers, and bands, all mixed with the sound of the fire crackers. Hundreds and thousands of the Chinese people have visited and presented gifts to the American internees in the camps and all sorts of accommodations are being made for them. The sentiment between the peoples of the two nations has certainly reached its highest point."

Mr. Chen has remained at his work with the Seminary, despite physical and economic difficulties, because of his belief in the possibilities for library service in China. He speaks of plans which he and Dr. Lincoln Cha, B.S. in L.S.'29, are jointly making for library development in Shanghai as well as in other parts of the country. They expect to put into practice a plan, delayed by the war between the United States and Japan, for setting up circulating libraries in Shanghai, Nanking and other cities of the Kiangsu Province. "We need help and cooperation from the library leaders of the United States in so many things which we are very anxious to promote. America did send librarians to help us in the past, and I believe that she will give us more help in the future."

Mr. Chen serves as editor as well as librarian of the Seminary, which is at present located at 550 Avenue du Roi Albert, Shanghai. He does not expect the Seminary to return to Nanking until next summer, "since our buildings are now being occupied by the American military officers who have to stay at Nanking for about six months to help the Chinese government to settle many questions."

Mr. Chen states that he has written a book in his native language called The Chinese Church Library; Its Organization and Administration. "It contains chapters on opportunities of service in the church library; general principles of library organization and administration; simple techniques in preparing books for circulation, and sample cards with different entries are included. In the appendix I made a selected list of Chinese books with short annotations for each book to serve as a standard of selection for the churches in China. I am now translating Joeckel's book Current Issues in Library Administration in Chinese and I am sure that this book will interest many people in the library world in China who cannot read English very well."

Important Announcements

Special Program for Veterans

The University of Illinois Library School is prepared to offer beginning work for the B.S. degree in Library Science during the semester which starts on February 25, 1946, if there is sufficient demand from discharged veterans and others recently returned from war service. As the curriculum is now organized, first semester courses, required of all students, are prerequisite to second semester courses. To take care of the considerable group who may, from present indications, want to enter in February, the five courses ordinarily offered only in the fall term would be repeated during the spring term. Then, to make it possible for students in the special program to complete work for the degree without interruption, the regular second semester courses would be repeated in the twelve-weeks session scheduled for the summer of 1946. Thus, a student entering the Library School on February 25 could graduate on September 14.

It is hoped that alumni will call this announcement to the attention of prospective beginning students, especially veterans, in order to help the Library School gauge the need for such a special program.

Scholarships and Assistantships, 1946-47

Alumni are reminded of the scholarships and assistantships available to graduate students in Library Science at the University of Illinois for the academic year 1946-47. Candidates must hold an A.B. degree from an accredited college and a degree or certificate for the first year of professional study in librarianship from an accredited library school. Applications should be addressed to R. B. Downs, director, University of Illinois Library School, Urbana, Illinois.

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship, maintained from the income of an endowment fund established by the Library School Association, provides a stipend of $300 for the year and exemption from tuition fees. Applications for this scholarship should be filed no later than February 15, 1946. Announcement of the award will be made on April 1.

University scholarships carry a stipend of $350 and exemption from the payment of the usual tuition. They are open only to candidates who are not over thirty years of age at the time when the appointment is to be made. Applications must be filed no later than February 1, 1946. Successful candidates will be notified on April 1.

Assistantships in various departments of the University Library and in some departmental libraries will also be available to graduate students. Three-quarters time appointments require thirty hours of work per week and pay a monthly salary of $112.50; half-time appointments require twenty hours per week and pay a salary of $75 per month. The length of time required by the student to complete the requirements for the M.S. degree varies with the individual, but usually does not exceed two years. Applications should be filed as soon as possible and no later than May 1, 1946. Appointments will be announced on June 1.

plans for school library buildings and quarters. It is hoped that the study will be published by A.L.A.

Between semesters Miss Lohrer drove with friends to New Orleans, Biloxi, Gulfport, and other points in the South, including a visit to the Louisiana State University Library School at Baton Rouge.

A new member of the faculty the second semester is Joe W. Kraus, B.S. in L.S.'39, M.S.'41, who recently received his discharge from the Army. He is an instructor in the special program for veterans. With Mrs. Kraus and their small son, Richard, Mr. Kraus is living in one of the portable houses erected on the south campus for veterans.

Josie B. Houchens, assistant University librarian—personnel, University of Illinois Library, is teaching the course in reference service in the program for veterans.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR VETERANS

Fourteen students are taking advantage of the special program for veterans offered by the Library School during the second semester, which began on March 6. Half of the group are veterans, representing all branches of the armed services except the Marines. The class is equally divided between men and women.

This is the first time in the history of the Library School that students have been admitted in the middle of the academic year. The opportunity was offered especially for the benefit of veterans desiring to begin professional study without delay. The students will have finished all required courses in June. During the twelve weeks summer session they will take a carefully selected group of elective courses, including one special course that will provide an opportunity for individual study along lines of special interest.

The courses in this program are being taught by members of the regular faculty with the exception of those taught by Joe W. Kraus, who was added to the faculty for this particular purpose.

INSPECTION TRIP

The annual Library School inspection trip was made to Indianapolis February 19-21. Dr. Stieg and Dr. Spencer were in charge of the group, which travelled by chartered bus. Headquarters were at the Central Y.W.C.A. for the women and the Antlers Hotel for the men. The party of fifty-one was divided into two groups to facilitate the tours of the libraries. Various types of libraries and institutions connected with library work were visited, including Technical High School Library, Eli Lilly's special pharmaceutical library, the National Library Bindery Company, and the Indiana State Library. The students visited the Indianapolis Public Library and several of its branches, including Raub Memorial Branch, Crispus Attucks Branch, the Business Branch, and the Teachers' Special Branch Library. A visit was made to DePauw University Library, at Greencastle, Indiana, on the return trip.

VISITING LECTURERS

Visitors to the Library School who spoke to the students, during the second semester, included Helene Rogers, assistant librarian of the Illinois State Library, Springfield, who discussed the new state demonstration libraries; Richard B. Sealock, librarian of the Gary, Indiana, Public Library, speaking on "The Librarian and the Board of Trustees"; and Emerson Greenaway, librarian of the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, Maryland, who described his library's post-war plans. Other librarians scheduled for special talks include Grace W. Gilman of the Lincoln Library, Springfield, Illinois; Agatha L. Shea, director of Children's Work in the Chicago Public Library; and Dorothy E. Hiatt, chief of the Extension Service, the Illinois State Library, Springfield. On April 23, Solon J. Buck, archivist of the United States, Washington, D.C., gave a lecture on "Your Government's Records in the National Archives," which was open to the public.

SUMMER SESSION 1946

The eight weeks summer session in the Library School will begin on June 24. Enrollment figures will probably be double those of the 1945 session. Prospective students include several new graduate students and several veterans.

Regular faculty members who will be teaching are Professors Bond, Phelps, Hostetter and Spencer. Professor Irwin Berg of the Psychology Department will again offer his course, Psychology for Librarians. Dorothy Black, assistant reference librarian in the University Library will teach Introduction to Government Publications. Visiting faculty include Lura E. Crawford, librarian of the Oak Park High School, Helen M. Brown who is librarian of MacMurray College, and Richard B. Sealock, librarian at Gary, Indiana.

A new departure this year will be the offering of teacher-librarian courses through the Extension Division of the University at Alton, Illinois. Ada Wood, who has taught these courses on the campus for several summers, will be the instructor in charge.

PROSPECTS FOR 1946-47

Indications for the academic year 1946-47 are that the Library School will have a class comparable to those of pre-war years. Thirty-five new students have already been admitted and the number of inquiries from prospective students increases daily. There will be many more advanced students studying for the M.S. degree, and the number of men students will be greater than during the past four years. Many veterans will be included, especially in the graduate group.

BOOKPLATES

Three interesting bookplates have recently been added to the Library School's collection. Two are those of alumni, Irene Doyle, catalog librarian, University of Wisconsin Library, and Jackson and Katherine Doyle

Towne. Miss Doyle's is an etching by Sara Blake, librarian of the Tufts Medical School Library, from a drawing by the French artist, Ch. Jacques. The Townes' joint plate was designed for them by Doris Lee of the Associated American Artists group, and includes among other details a drawing of the entrance to the Townes' home. The third plate is that of Michigan State College Library, of which Mr. Towne is librarian. It was designed by Scribner's, using a motif from the relief on Beaumont Tower, on the Michigan State College campus.

The Library School welcomes contributions to its collection, which now contains slightly over two thousand items.

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MEETING

Held at Buffalo, New York, June 20, 1946

One hundred and twelve attended the dinner meeting of the Association in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Statler. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Dorothy Hill Gersack, the vice-president, Miss Mary Silverthorn, presided. A word of greeting and introductions of those at the head table were made by Miss Silverthorn. Mr. F. K. W. Drury, representing alumni who had retired within the past year or were retiring in the near future, was introduced.

Minutes of the last dinner meeting held in Milwaukee in 1942 were approved as printed in the News Letter. In the absence of Miss Houchens, Margaret Oldfather acted as secretary pro-tem. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were accepted as read. The alumni were urged to write to the secretary giving suggestions for projects for the Association to consider during 1947. $183.35 was reported as received for annual memberships during the past year and $130.10 in life memberships. It was urged that this amount be increased by the alumni.

An abridged financial report for the trustees of the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship Fund as of June 10, 1946, submitted by Wilma Troxel, was read by the secretary pro-tem and approved as read. A motion was made by Miss Conat and carried that a message of appreciation be sent to Mr. Cleavinger for his work on the Endowment Fund.

The financial report of the Windsor Fund was read for Miss Houchens by the secretary pro-tem. The report showed a balance of $4,594.34 and was approved as read. Miss England reported on the Windsor Publication Fund Editorial Committee. Several manuscripts of theses have been examined by the Committee but the Committee felt that it wanted something by Mr. Windsor for the first publication. A telegram from Mr. Windsor was read in which he said copy on a manuscript on the building of the University of Illinois research collection would be ready early in December. The Committee would welcome suggestions for other manuscripts. The report was adopted as read.

Miss Boyd reported for the Nominating Committee: Miss Anne M. Boyd, Miss Fanny Dunlap, Miss Eleanor M. Robertson, chairman. For president, Miss Margaret Windsor; first vice-president, Mrs. Dorothy Besuden Keller; second vice-president, Harold W. Batchelor; secretary-treasurer, Miss Josie B. Houchens. Trustees of the Endowment Fund: 3-year term, 1946-49, Miss Wilma Troxel; 2-year term, 1946-48, Mr. Donald W. Kohlstedt; 1-year term, 1946-47, Miss Bertha M. Schneider. The slate was unanimously approved as read.

Miss Frances Simpson was introduced and in her own delightful and informal manner greeted the alumni and reminisced briefly and told of plans for her vacation in New York this summer. She moved, and the membership enthusiastically concurred, that the University of Illinois Library School Alumni Association assembled for 1946 instruct the secretary pro-tem to send to P. L. Windsor affectionate greetings and appreciation and regrets that he is not here; also, to Josie B. Houchens greetings and expression of 'extremely adequate services' to the organization.

Dr. Robert B. Downs, director of the Library School, was then presented to the alumni. He reviewed briefly the changes that the School has undergone during the past four years. In 1943 was celebrated the School's fiftieth anniversary and groups of alumni met throughout the country. The University Press published Fifty Years of Education for Librarianship. The Carnegie survey was made and the recommendations of the Metcalf-Osborn-Russell committee were considered by the faculty, and a new curriculum was adopted and went into effect in 1944. The B.S. program for the first semester is an all-elective course. For the M.S. degree there is greater flexibility, and students are encouraged to elect courses in other departments of the University. In these changes the effort was made to avoid routines and emphasize basic principles.

Enrollment fell during the impact of the war, but it is rapidly increasing now. The Veterans Program started last February includes a class of 14 that will finish in September. Faculty changes during this period include: Dr. Carl White to Columbia University, Dr. E. W. McDiarmid to the University of Minnesota, Dr. John Lancaster to Peabody, Dr. Spencer to full time in the Library School. Miss Lohrer, Dr. Phelps, and Miss Hostetter have had time off to work for advanced degrees. An annual institute of public libraries, extension courses, guidance and counseling program, reorganization of the Library School Library, laboratory of visual aids are new developments in the school. A few final words regarding the general University picture were added.

Dr. Lewis F. Stieg, assistant director of the School, was next introduced. He told of difficulties in placement at present. Placement he believes to be the greatest obligation of the School faculty to the alumni. During the past three months there have been 500 requests for positions and 35 people available. In reviewing placement during the past four years he stated that in 1943 there were 400 requests and 1,400 names sent out; in 1944, 550 requests and 1,500 names; in 1945, 850 requests and 1,300 names; and in 1946, 1,050 requests and 1,000 names. During the same years the average salary for the first year students rose from $1,500 in 1943 to $1,750 in 1944 to $1,860 in 1945 and $2,000 in 1946. Dr. Stieg expressed his pleasure to know names and faces instead of file holders.

Men and women who had served in the Armed Services rose by table and introduced themselves and told briefly of their war work.

An informal reception followed the program, and the alumni were given a chance to talk with Director Downs and Dr. Stieg.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER

The Association meets in June 1946 for the first time since the Milwaukee conference in June 1942. Due to the lack of meetings and difficulty of travel few gatherings of alumni anywhere have been held during this period, though a few groups have faithfully continued their annual luncheons or dinners.

Since many alumni were deeply engaged in the war effort, either in actual Army or Navy service or in civilian war work, any new or aggressive planning for the Association has been impossible. The officers elected in 1942 have served during the war period and carried on the routine affairs of the Association as best they could. The Alumni News Letter has appeared twice each year under the capable editorship of Dorothy Black and Eunice Collins Mohr, assisted by the secretary.

The annual paid membership dues for each year have been much less than might have been expected from a potential membership of over 2000. During the period varying from 129 in 1942 to 183 in 1946, a very few became life members.

The Endowment Fund from which the Sharp scholarship has been paid is, owing to lowered interest rates, barely sufficient to yield the $300 interest needed for the scholarship. This fund should be increased by new life memberships to $10,000. At the beginning of the war a number of loans from the general treasury were out but have all been repaid, and the fund is now in a position to be helpful to students in the future. In 1945 John S. Cleavinger, who served as trustee and treasurer of the Endowment Fund from its beginning and whose interest and management were outstanding, resigned because of ill health, and Wilma Troxel was appointed to succeed him.

The secretary-treasurer believes that the Association is now in a position to do some constructive work for the School and for librarianship in general, but that it needs to work out a new program and to sponsor some definite new projects for 1947 and thereafter.

Following is the financial statement of the general treasury to date:

REPORT OF THE EDITORIAL COMMITTEE, WINDSOR PUBLICATIONS FUND

Your Windsor Publications Fund Editorial Committee has not been inactive even though you may not have been conscious of its efforts during the past four years.

Prior to this week, we have been able to meet, as you know, only at the Milwaukee meeting. The News Letter of December 1942 contained an abridged version of the statement of policy recommended by the Committee and adopted by the Association at that meeting. Since that time, except for a brief get-together of those who attended the 1945 Midwinter Meeting, correspondence has been our only medium, and as every very busy person knows, this often proves difficult and unsatisfactory especially in any procedure as exacting as the comparison and evaluation of manuscripts.

Your Committee has examined several manuscripts of theses presented in fulfillment of requirements for degrees at the University of Illinois Library School. Some of these seemed to the Committee to have merit and it is hoped that the amount of time required to revise them will not prevent their eventual publication.

From the beginning of our work, each member of the Committee has cherished the hope that the first manuscript to carry the Windsor Fund's imprint would be something from the pen of Mr. Windsor himself. Now Mr. Windsor, as those of you who know him well will bear us out, is a very modest person and it has required a bit of pressure to persuade him to agree with us. After our meeting on Tuesday of this week, we tried again, and received his assent today. Copy will be ready, he promises, by early December 1946.

The Committee naturally regards this as a considerable achievement and judging from comments received all agree with the committee's statement to Mr. Windsor that "nothing will give the Alumni Association greater satisfaction than the assurance that your account of the building of the University of Illinois Research Collections will be the first publication to be issued on the Windsor Fund."

Now about manuscripts to be considered. The Committee will appreciate advice from the membership about material, preferably, though not necessarily, by Illinois students or faculty which you think should be published. We will be grateful to the present faculty of the school who will bear the fund in mind suggesting the possibility of publication to students currently working on suitable subjects, and urging them to prepare their manuscripts with this in mind.

Library School News

Class of 1947

The Library School class of 1947 completed registration the third week in September to find itself part of a student body of 18,500, on the Urbana campus — an unprecedented number for the University of Illinois.

Candidates for the B.S. in L.S. degree number 58, and there are 33 graduate students. While this number represents an increase of 8 per cent over last year, it is considerably smaller than was at first expected. More than a hundred students had been accepted by the School for the current academic year, but circumstances prevented many from entering. The most serious problem was the housing situation in Champaign-Urbana. Many of the prospective Library School students were forced to give up their plans to attend the University of Illinois because of difficulties in locating rooms. Others, however, who refused to be discouraged by reports of a lack of living space, eventually found quarters. Three of the more persistent are commuting from neighboring towns.

The erroneous impression that the University of Illinois was limiting enrollment seems to have been another factor in cutting down the Library School registration. While restrictions have recently been imposed on enrollment in some departments, none is contemplated with respect to the Library School or to the Graduate School.

This year's Library School class, as usual, includes students from all parts of the country, with a great variety of backgrounds and interests. The presence of more men — about 16 per cent of the first-year group and just half of the graduate students — characterizes the class as definitely post-war.

Twenty-six veterans are enrolled in the School, 11 for the first-year work, and 15 for advanced study. Every branch of the service is represented except the Marines. Four of the veterans are women.

SHARP SCHOLARSHIP

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship for 1946-47 was awarded to Nancy Elizabeth Miller, reference librarian, Canton Public Library, Canton, Ohio. Miss Miller received her A.B. degree from the University of Kentucky and her B.S. in L.S. from the University of Illinois Library School in 1942. She has also served as librarian-secretary of the Department of Library Science at the University of Kentucky.

Applications for the Sharp Scholarship for 1947-48 should be sent to Director Downs no later than February 15, 1947. The scholarship, which is supported by an endowment created by the alumni, provides a stipend of $300 a year and exemption from tuition fees.

THE CLASS OF 1946

At the June commencement 37 candidates for the B.S. in L.S. degree were presented. Another group of 20 students completed the requirements for the degree in August. Forty per cent of these degrees were awarded with honors.

With an average of nearly 10 opportunities per person from which to select a position, the class of 1946 began its professional career with unprecedented advantages from the point of view of placement. Public libraries were chosen by 39 per cent of the graduates. College and university libraries claimed 35 per cent, special libraries 9 per cent, and 17 per cent went into the school library field. At the present time perhaps the two types of library work in which the greatest shortages exist are cataloging and children's work. Ten of the students, or 18 per cent, chose cataloging; 11 graduates, about 19 per cent, went into children's work.

This first post-war class began to resemble somewhat the classes of pre-Pearl Harbor days. It was larger and included a few more men (about 5 per cent) than its immediate predecessors. A new note was the presence of veterans, only two to be sure, but the class registered just six weeks after V-J Day.

VETERANS' CLASS

On September 15, the B.S. in L.S. degree was granted to 14 students who had completed an accelerated program of study that many students would have considered impossible. Between March 6 and September 14 the "veterans' class" completed all of the regular requirements for the Library School's degree, with only one week of vacation at the half-way point. Their program even included the inspection trip, a strenuous two days in August visiting libraries in Chicago. Four members of the class were graduated with high honors.

To accommodate returning veterans who were anxious to acquire their professional education without delay, the Library School announced a special program to begin with the opening of the second semester of the 1945-46 academic year. Although some 25 students applied and were accepted for admission, only 14 were able to complete their final negotiations with Uncle Sam in time to get to Urbana for registration day. For the first few weeks the uniforms of soldiers on terminal leave were a common sight in Library School class rooms.

The class was equally divided between men and women. Half of the students were actually veterans, but all had been spending the last few years in some form of war work. They shared, therefore, common experience and interests to a much greater degree than any other class in the history of the School.

Several members of the class are continuing immediately with graduate study. Some have gone into hospital library work with the Veterans Administration. The others are located in a surprisingly varied group of libraries and in many different types of positions, considering the small number in the class.

There have been several inquiries as to whether Illinois will admit another veterans' class with the beginning of the second semester of 1946-47. While there can never be any question that the 1946 experiment was justified, it will be impossible to continue the program in the immediate future. There are not enough students qualified for and interested in admission to Library School at the beginning of the second semester to justify each year the expense of an accelerated course.

FACULTY NOTES

Robert B. Downs, director of the Library School, was one of the principal speakers at the annual conference of the Arkansas Library Association in Little Rock, November 7 and 8, when he talked on "Humor in American Folklore" and on the "Distribution and Extent of American Library Resources." At the A.L.A. conference in Buffalo last June, Mr. Downs took part in the discussions at the meetings of the Bibliography Committee, joint meetings of the Board of Education for Librarianship and the Association of American Library Schools, and the International Relations Board.

Among articles recently published by Mr. Downs are: "Where Are America's Research Resources" in Scientific Monthly, June 1946; "Latin American Union Catalogs" in College and Research Libraries, July 1946; and "Preparation of Specialists for University Libraries" in Special Libraries, September 1946.

P. L. Windsor, director emeritus, took an overland trip east through the Great Smoky Mountains during the late summer with his daughter, Elizabeth, and his granddaughter, Elizabeth Harding. After a stay in Washington, Mr. Windsor drove to Miss Harding's home in Baltimore and then on to New York State for a visit with relatives. Mr. Windsor spent Thanksgiving with Elizabeth Windsor in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where she is librarian of Coe College.

Lewis F. Stieg, assistant director, was elected president for 1946-47 of the new Division of Library Education of the A.L.A. At the conference in Buffalo, Dr. Stieg spoke on "The Library School Point of View" in a symposium on "What Contributions Can a New A.L.A. Division of Library Education Make to American Librarianship," at the Professional Training Round Table meeting in Buffalo. He represented the new Division at a meeting of the Budget Committee at A.L.A. headquarters in October. He will participate in a working conference on questions in education for librarianship called by the A.L.A. Board of Education for Librarianship in Chicago December 12-14.

Dr. Stieg is serving on the Special Committee on Relations of the Divisions of A.L.A. and on the Committee on Discussion of the Wheeler Report.

Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, joined her sister and niece at Clifton Springs, New York, for a month following the Buffalo conference. She returned to Urbana early in August.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor, presided at the joint meeting of the Association of American Library Schools and the Board of Education for Librarianship at the A.L.A. conference in Buffalo. She served as president for 1945-46 of the A.A.L.S.

Miss Boyd was one of the principal speakers at the Arkansas Library Association meeting this fall, talking on "The Role of Government Publications in Library Service," and on "Every Librarian a Potential Reader's Advisor."

Ethel Bond, associate professor, is president for 1946-47 of the Division of Cataloging and Classification of the A.L.A. Between the summer session and the fall semester Miss Bond moved from her apartment at 1108 South Lincoln to her new home at 1502 Delmont Court, Urbana. Miss Bond's niece, who is attending Urbana High School, is staying with her.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor, and Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor, who were on leave during the past school year, have returned to the faculty. Both taught also during the summer session.

Miss Hostetter discussed "Audio-visual Materials in a Library Guidance Program" at the School Library Conference at Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, Charleston, Illinois, in October. She demonstrated some of the visual materials used in the Library School, and some of the work of her classes this fall in organizing "Work-plans for Posters and Exhibits" which her pupils will develop in art classes and independently out of school. The following day Miss Hostetter was in Normal for the School Library Conference at the Illinois State Normal University.

Gwladys Spencer, assistant professor, spoke at the School Librarians Clinic at Western Illinois State Teachers College at Macomb, Illinois, November 1, on "Audio-visual Materials in the Guidance Program of the High School Library."

During a brief vacation trip to Texas Miss Spencer visited many libraries and met many Illini. A dinner for librarians in Fort Worth in her honor was arranged by Iris Caraway, S.S.'46, and Emma Louise Gentzke, M.S.'46.

As chairman of the Membership Committee of the Illinois Library Association, Miss Spencer attended a meeting of the executive board preceding the conference in Springfield. Miss Spencer also attended a meeting of the Teachers Institute while in Springfield.

Alice Lohrer, assistant professor, is on leave of absence during the current academic year. Her mother passed away during the early fall.

Miss Lohrer has been elected president of the Illinois Library Association for 1946-47.

Herbert Goldhor joined the faculty of the Library School in September as assistant professor. His major interest is public library administration, and he will teach the courses in that subject. Dr. Goldhor will also develop a research program relating to public libraries that should be of special interest and value to graduate students specializing in this branch of librarianship.

Dr. Goldhor is a native of New Jersey. He received a B.A. degree from the University of Newark in 1935, and the B.S. degree from Columbia's School of Library Service in 1938. He has done graduate work at Princeton and received the Ph.D. degree in 1942 from the University of Chicago Graduate Library School. His doctoral dissertation on civil service in public libraries was published in the Library Quarterly for 1943.

Dr. Goldhor held various positions with the Newark Public Library from 1933 to 1937. During 1938-39 he was assistant to the librarian of the Iowa State College at Ames. In 1944 he entered the Army as a private and was discharged in September 1946 as a lieutenant. He came directly to Illinois from Frankfurt, Germany, where he had been working with the Army library program.

HELP WANTED

The following appeal to alumni comes from Donna Finger, librarian of the Library School Library:

"Will you help? The Library School Library is endeavoring to build up its files of current research materials and needs your assistance. To all who have been sending such materials to the school from time to time, a most sincere thank you.

"The library is anxious to receive library bond issue literature, budget messages, building plans, organization charts, work manuals, personnel forms, financial forms and records, order and cataloging forms and records, information pamphlets for the public or staff, book lists. Annual or special reports are especially desired.

"Printed, mimeographed, typewritten, or filmed materials are equally acceptable, — or, if you prefer, the library will have the material filmed and return it to you.

"Address material to the Library School Library, University of Illinois Library, Urbana."

University of Illinois Library News

NAVY PIER AND GALESBURG

Growing pains are being suffered by the Library, along with the rest of the University. New University branches at Navy Pier in Chicago and Mayo General Hospital in Galesburg had to be provided with libraries by mid-October, when classes began. In these days of shortages of librarians, books and equipment, problems encountered in starting a library from scratch are numerous.

At Navy Pier, where preparations have been made to receive 4,000 junior college students in liberal arts, commerce, engineering, and architecture, space assigned to the library is the former Navy mess hall. This is a large room, capable of seating about 800 readers, at the east end of the Pier and looking out over Lake Michigan on the north and south sides. An asphalt tile floor and sound-absorbing ceiling are being constructed, and new tables and chairs bought. Certain useful items of equipment were left by the Navy when it vacated last summer.

The Navy Pier librarian is David K. Maxfield, formerly of Cooper Union Library in New York. The reference-circulation librarian is Walter Southern, and his assistants are Robert B. Harness and Carmen Wilson. The catalog-acquisition librarian is Doris V. Welsh. There will also be three nonacademic staff members and a group of student assistants.

For the Galesburg branch, the University has taken over the extensive facilities of an Army hospital built in 1943-44, and is planning for between 1,500 and 2,000 junior college students in liberal arts and commerce. The library is assigned two building units, totalling over 14,500 square feet of space. De Lafayette Reid has been appointed librarian; Louise M. Stubblefield, reference-circulation librarian, Florence Hildebrandt, catalog-acquisition librarian. There will also be an assistant reference-circulation librarian, one stenographer, and student assistants. So far as possible, surplus Army equipment is being used, supplemented by new and second-hand material from other sources.

Before the end of the year, it is expected that nearly 10,000 new volumes will be bought for the Navy Pier and perhaps 8,000 for the Galesburg library. Selection of titles for purchase is largely automatic because course credits are to be transferable to Urbana, and therefore the same books assigned freshmen and sophomores here will be used at Chicago and Galesburg. There is a possibility the Chicago Public Library will establish a temporary branch at Navy Pier to supplement the limited resources available at the beginning.

While much of the preliminary work of getting the two new divisions under way has fallen on Urbana departments, all technical processes will be transferred to the branch libraries as soon as they are fully organized and their staffs appointed.

MR. WHARMBY RETIRES

Many alumni will remember Edmund Wharmby for his cheerful, accommodating service as head of the Shipping Department of the University Library. Mr. Wharmby, who retired on September 1, was honored by the Library staff on June 28 at an informal gathering in the north court of the Library. Gifts of a leather wallet containing over $150 and a bound and illustrated volume of letters from his library friends were presented to him. Mr. Windsor, in presenting them, commended Mr. Wharmby for his "distinctive contribution to the general excellence of the service that this great Library has long been giving to students and faculty."

Mr. Zimmerman served also as chairman of the nominating committee. Raymond A. Shove '30, M.A.'36, head of the Order and Bindery Department, University of Minnesota, discussed "The Proposed Smaller Rag Edition of the New York Times" before the Reference Section luncheon meeting. Marion Phillips '31, cataloger, Minneapolis Public Library, who served as chairman of the registration committee of the conference, was elected president of the Catalog Section of the Association for 1946-47. Sylvia Hunt Nicololoff (Mrs. C. A. Nicololoff) (1937-38), headed the Trustees Section. Alumni at the University of Illinois Library School table at the Library Schools dinner were I. DR. STIEG RESIGNS

Lewis F. Stieg has resigned as assistant director, University of Illinois Library School, effective September 1, 1947, to accept the directorship of the Library School of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles. Dr. Stieg, who holds the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago Graduate Library School, came to the University of Illinois in September 1943. He had formerly served as librarian of the John B. Stetson University, Deland, Florida, and of the Hamilton College Library, Clinton, New York. Dr. Stieg has been taking a prominent part in A.L.A. activities in the field of library education and is serving as president for 1946-47 of the newly created A.L.A. Division of Library Education. His article on the Division appears in the A.L.A. Bulletin January 1947.

Dr. Stieg's scholarly background and interests, added to his wide knowledge of libraries, have been of great value to the Library School in the four years he has served as assistant director. He has had direct responsibility for much of the School's administration, including admissions, class schedules, student counseling, placement, and editorial duties, as well as teaching. In this versatile capacity, Dr. Stieg has shown himself to be an able and efficient executive. As chairman of the Curriculum Committee, he played an important part in 1943-44 in revising the School's program, and has since been active in strengthening the educational aspects of the School's work. His loss will be keenly felt at Illinois, and Southern California is to be congratulated on his decision to join the faculty there.

With Mrs. Stieg and their small daughter, Meggie, Dr. Stieg plans to leave Urbana early in August.

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

Dr. Harold Lancour, formerly librarian and professor of bibliography at Cooper Union, New York City, became assistant director of the Library School on September 1, replacing Dr. Lewis F. Stieg, who resigned to accept the directorship of the University of Southern California Library School.

A native of Duluth, Minnesota, Dr. Lancour is 39 years of age, married, and has an infant daughter. He received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Washington, bachelor of science and master of science degrees from Columbia University School of Library Service, and a doctor of education degree from Columbia Teachers College. He also studied at the Institut Universitaire de Hautes Études Internationales at Geneva in 1930-31.

DR. HAROLD LANCOUR

Dr. Lancour's experience includes five years in publishing and the book trade in Seattle, Washington, two years on the New York Public Library staff, and several years of military service in the second world war. In 1944-45, he served as an instructor in the Army Library School at Paris and Oberammergau, helping to train 1,276 G.I. librarians in seven months. Except for the period of his army career, he was on the Cooper Union staff from 1937 until he came to Illinois, serving first as museum librarian and, since 1940, as librarian.

Perhaps because of his work at Cooper Union, Dr. Lancour has been particularly interested in engineering education. He represents

He is also a member of the Bibliographical Society of America, the Grolier Club of New York, American Antiquarian Society, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Kappa, and the leading library professional organizations.

Publications by Dr. Lancour include bibliographies in the fields of heraldry, American art auctions, early passenger ships to America, and engineering education. He is also a frequent contributor to periodicals.

With his excellent educational preparation, broad library and teaching experience, keen interest in students, and administrative ability, Dr. Lancour brings unusually high qualifications to the assistant directorship of the Library School. His appointment has been greeted by those who know him as a particularly happy choice during this critical period when library education is undergoing much study and revision.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, JULY 3, 1947

The annual dinner meeting of the University of Illinois Library School Association was held at the Hotel Bellevue in San Francisco, California, on July 3, 1947 with one hundred and forty-four present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Margaret Windsor. In the absence of Josie B. Houchens, secretary-treasurer, Fanny Dunlap acted as secretary pro-tem. The president opened the meeting with greetings to the alumni and made some introductory remarks, after which persons at the head table were introduced. A roll call of the alumni present was made by classes, which showed a large majority to be in the classes between 1926 and 1940, with one representative of the early classes before 1907.

Minutes of the last meeting held in Buffalo, June 20, 1946, were approved as printed in the News Letter. The financial report of the Association and the report of the Windsor Fund were read by the secretary pro-tem. These were accepted as read. A letter, accompanying the financial report, called attention to the annual paid membership of 167 being small in comparison to the number of alumni and urged a more general response to the call for payment of annual dues.

The Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship Fund Trustees report, submitted by Wilma Troxel, was read by Donald Kohlstedt, a member of the Board. A motion to accept this report was carried.

The following letter from Miss Simpson was read:

"After forty-six years of a reasonably close connection with the Illinois Library School Association, it is hardly necessary for me to assure you that, on the evening of July third I shall be thinking of you and wishing with all my heart that I could be 'among those present', but — no such good luck for me this year! However, since I cannot gaze on the blue Pacific from Nob Hill, looking out towards Europe across the gray Atlantic from the jumping-off point on Long Island will have to suffice.

"I fought the battle of my life this spring in deciding that I must not attempt to attend the A.L.A. conference of 1947, and my decision was to be expected. When one reaches the ripe age of eighty-four, one should have managed to accumulate a little bit of common sense, so instead of a table in the Hotel Bellevue in San Francisco, the evening of July third will probably find me on the terrace of Montauk Manor, Montauk, Long Island, looking away from the Atlantic and wishing it were the Pacific!

"In sending my cordial good wishes and saying au revoir, I believe that I cannot do better than to wish each one of you also eighty-four very happy years."

Then Harold Batchelor read a message from Mr. Windsor:

"Regretting that I cannot be with you at the San Francisco Conference and the meeting of our Illinois alumni, I am sending through you my warmest greetings and good wishes to the many former students of the Illinois Library School who are sure to be with you at our annual meeting.

"I am fortunate in having pretty good general health and in being able to continue living here in Urbana near our many old friends and in our old home.

"By the way, I saw Miss Simpson a few days ago and found her as effective in repartee as ever; she changes not at all.

"Again, my warm greetings to you all."

Motions were carried that telegrams of greeting be sent to both Miss Simpson and Mr. Windsor.

The chairman of the Dinner Committee, Mrs. Dorothy Besuden Keller, was next introduced and she in turn presented the other members of the Committee:

Herberta Faithorn, Mrs. Harold K. Judd, Marjorie Rumble, Mrs. Curtis Roberts, Katherine Brose, and Ethelyn Markley.

The following alumni served as hosts and hostesses:

Frances Armalas, Naomi M. Anderson, Nelle U. Branch, Mrs. James C. Fields, Eleanor Ruth Jones, Aida Kravcik, Bess Lowry, Emma L. Pendleton, Edna R. Ralston, Marcus Skarstedt, Addie Smith, Robinson Spencer, Jeannette Vander Ploeg, Marian Waby, and Mrs. E. D. Waldron.

The report of the Nominating Committee, consisting of Ethel Bond, Mary Lois Bull, and Isabelle Grant, was read by Miss Bond. The following officers were nominated for the year 1947-48. For president, Mrs. Madeline Cord Thompson; first vice-president, Clarice Krieg; second vice-president, Robert E. Scudder; secretary-treasurer, Josie B. Houchens; and Trustee of the Endowment Fund, 1947-1950, Richard B. Sealock. Motion to accept the slate as read was unanimously carried.

Director Robert B. Downs of the Library School was presented by the president and gave a talk in which he discussed at some length the future of the Library School. Trends in the education for librarianship, which are resulting in a new pattern for library school curriculums, were pointed out. The shortage of library workers and recent surveys made in the field of library education have been largely responsible for the proposed changes, the chief feature of which is the transfer of from fifteen to eighteen hours of work in basic courses to the undergraduate level to be accepted for the A.B. degree. This would make it possible to grant the M.A. degree in one year of advanced study which would be comparable to the time required in other lines of work. One school is already embarking on this program and another has announced its intention to do so. Concern was expressed over the lowering of standards and its effect on the profession at a time when the tendency in other professions is to raise standards. Illinois will continue under the present plan for another year while studying possible curriculum changes toward developing a sound program for the School. Appreciation of the loyalty of the alumni was expressed and a spirit of tolerance in this period of change was requested. Mr. Downs spoke of the upward trend in the salary scale, especially in the college and university field; called attention to the extra-curricular professional activities of members of the Library School faculty; and gave a brief picture of the changes taking place at the University with its high enrollment and its entrance upon a period of expansion and development under the leadership of President Stoddard.

Director Downs announced the resignation of Dr. Lewis Stieg, assistant director of the Library School, to become director of the Library School of the University of Southern California and paid tribute to his contribution to the School during his association with it. He then announced the appointment of Dr. Harold Lancour, librarian of Cooper Union, to fill the position of assistant director and spoke briefly of his qualifications for the position.

Following the talk of the director, several members of the group made comments and asked questions. Mr. Batchelor urged a continuation of the strength of the curriculum in the subject of cataloging; Mrs. Leidendeker favored a broad general education instead of too much specialization; Miss Anita Hostetter answered questions on internships; and Mr. Downs told of the plan for internships at the Library of Congress. Questions were asked in regard to the placement service of the School and sentiment was expressed for the development of a stronger service. Mr. Downs outlined the present policy and indicated that this phase of the work would receive additional consideration.

The meeting was adjourned, after which an informal social period followed.

PLACEMENT

A Report to the Alumni by Director Downs

At the San Francisco dinner meeting keen interest in the Library School's placement service was expressed, and a number of questions were asked about the manner in which the service operates. Since this is a matter of concern to alumni generally, a statement on the School's placement activities, to describe what is being done and to clear up certain misconceptions, appears desirable.

Statistics reveal that demands on the Library School office for placement assistance grow from year to year, involving an increasingly heavy load of correspondence. From June 1, 1946 to May 21, 1947, there were 1,287 requests from libraries for aid in filling positions. Many of these letters listed two or more openings, hence the actual number of vacancies was considerably larger than the number of requests. In response, the School recommended 936 students and alumni to the prospective employers. These figures were approximately twelve per cent above the previous year. From June 1 to October 1, 1947, there were 304 requests from thirty-seven states, Hawaii, and Guam, and 231 recommendations were made. Of a total of sixty-one recipients of the B.S. degree in June, August and October, 1947, all except two are employed, and of twenty-one M.S. degree holders all are now employed. Special circumstances account for the two not yet located.

For 1946-47 graduates in the B.S. curriculum, beginning salaries ranged from $2,100 to $3,600, with the average slightly in excess of $2,500, or $400 higher than the year before. For graduates of the M.S. program, salaries ranged from $2,700 to $3,800.

It has become standard procedure in the Library School to reply to all requests from employers within twenty-four hours after receipt. Occasional exceptions must be made in order to procure all essential information, but no inquiry goes unanswered for any appreciable length of time.

Good placement work of course involves much more than simply sending out names when requests come in. Frequently an employer fails to furnish sufficient data about salary, the nature of a position, and other facts required for intelligent suggestions, and further correspondence is necessary. The School often takes the initiative also in reaching out for more placement opportunities. For example, several important college and public library positions have recently become vacant, and without waiting for requests for recommendations to come to the School, the assistant director has written offering to make the School's placement facilities available. The response, on the part of employers, to this procedure has been excellent.

Still another phase of placement work may be termed education of the employer. When a request for recommendations for a position sub-standard in salary or other respects is received, it is the School's policy to call attention to prevailing standards and advise that professional librarians with suitable qualifications cannot be obtained for jobs which fail to meet minimum requirements. During the present period of acute personnel shortages high standards can be upheld more easily, to be sure, than in an era of unemployment.

Annually, for the past several years, it has been the practice to send out an inquiry to all alumni, asking for such information as change of address, change of status or position, and interest in being considered for a new position. Last year 1,600 letters were mailed, but replies were received from only 185 alumni, and of these about one half wanted their names placed in the active placement file. In order to maintain an effective and efficient informational and placement service it is essential that all alumni return the cards sent them, even though no important changes may have occurred since the previous report, and even if they are fully satisfied with their present jobs. It is planned to send out the next general letter in January 1948 and alumni are urged to reply promptly to bring the Library School's records up to date. In addition, of course, the School should be informed of any subsequent changes in positions, addresses, salaries, or other facts which may affect placement.

It ought to be strongly emphasized that in making recommendations for positions the Library School office is not limited to graduates who have expressed a desire for a new post. On the contrary, especially for places of substantial importance, the entire alumni file may be searched for suitable candidates, and individual members of the faculty are usually consulted for suggestions.

Two specific queries raised at the San Francisco meeting are perhaps of wider interest. One related to the success or lack of success of Illinois alumni in securing appointments to top library positions. The School can point with genuine pride to the large number of graduates who now occupy leading positions in the profession. Looking to the future, however, there is a decided trend, particularly in colleges and universities, in the direction of appointing chief administrators with doctoral degrees. This means, for Illinois, that we must either go ahead with proposed plans for offering the Ph.D. in library science, or Illinois alumni must go elsewhere for the doctorate, if they expect to be in line for major posts. A second question was concerned with the present policy of the University of Illinois Library in employing graduates of the School. The percentage of alumni now on the staff is somewhat lower than in earlier years, for two principal reasons: removal of the staff from state civil service with its requirement for Illinois residence, and the small classes since 1941, which have not provided a sufficient number of candidates for available positions. Every properly qualified person from recent graduating classes, however, willing to accept an appointment, has been given that opportunity and a considerable number of our alumni in institutions elsewhere have been brought back to fill responsible jobs in the Illinois Library. As an example, in administrative changes this year, the assistant directorship of the Library (in charge of technical departments) and the headships of the Acquisition, Binding and Catalog departments have gone to Illini.

The Library School office is anxious to be of maximum usefulness to all alumni, and will welcome suggestions for further improvements in its services.

GWLADYS SPENCER

It is with profound regret that the News Letter records the death of Gwladys Spencer, assistant professor, on November 22, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roy Burton Deer, 771 Summit Avenue, Westfield, New Jersey. Miss Spencer had been a member of the University of Illinois Library School faculty for the past seven years. In addition to this she had served as librarian of the Education, Philosophy, and Psychology Reading Room of the University Library from 1942 to 1944 and taught each summer from 1941 through 1946. During this period her vigorous mind, sterling character, rich cultural background, and high professional attainments enabled her to make an unusual contribution to the training of many young librarians who will join with her colleagues of the University Library and Library School in lamenting her untimely death.

Miss Spencer's life was never an easy one. On her mother's death during her girlhood, she took charge of her father's household in Granville, Ohio, unselfishly deferring the completion of her own education until her younger sisters and brothers had finished theirs. To the experience of these years, she doubtless owed her marked abilities as a cook and hostess which gave such pleasure to the many Library School students and other friends who partook of her hospitality. It was perfectly characteristic of her that once she resumed her studies, she took what amounted to three degrees in as many years. She received the diploma of the Denison University School of Music in 1920, the certificate of the Western Reserve University Library School in 1921, and the Ph.B. degree from Denison University in 1922. From 1922 to 1928 she was order librarian of Ohio Wesleyan University Library and from 1928 until 1934, assistant librarian in the same institution. During her later years at Ohio Wesleyan she studied comparative literature and was awarded the master's degree in that field in 1934. These varied studies, together with her experience as a book buyer and administrator, and her constant and discriminating reading, laid the foundation for her later success as a teacher.

In 1935, at a time of life when a less energetic woman might have preferred to rest on her laurels, Miss Spencer went to the University of Chicago and began her studies for the doctorate in the Graduate Library School. Since it was necessary for her to work as she studied, she became the librarian of the Library School and later acted as an editorial and research assistant. She received the Ph.D. degree in 1939, and in 1943 her dissertation, a careful and thorough sociological study of the genesis of the Chicago Public Library, was published by the University of Chicago Press. This work, The Chicago Public Library: Origins and Backgrounds, will form an enduring monument to her scholarship.

Miss Spencer will probably be best remembered as a teacher of courses in administration and library trends, though she also taught a number of other subjects. She established the course in audio-visual aids and in this connection began the accumulation of items for an interesting permanent exhibit on China. Recently she had also been offering a course in special libraries. While on the staff of the University Library she was a leader in professional activities and was largely responsible for the original plans for the Library Hour program of lectures held weekly in the Library.

Miss Spencer's steadfast faith and unusual courage enabled her to remain on duty and finish her work last spring despite her increasingly painful and crippling illness. Her charm, cheerfulness and dynamic energy, and her great interest in librarianship and enthusiasm for all it implies, will long be remembered by the students and faculty of the Library School.

EMMA FELSENTHAL

Emma Felsenthal, B.L.S.'12, associate director of summer courses, State University of Iowa Library, died in a New York hospital on December 5, after an illness of several months. Miss Felsenthal was an assistant in the Reference Department, University of Illinois Library and instructor in the Library School, 1912-18. After serving with the A.L.A. War Services, 1918-19, she returned to teach in the University of Illinois Library School from 1921 to 1924. In 1925 she joined the staff of the State University of Iowa, where she served as medical librarian from 1925 to 1931, and, from 1926 until the time of her death, as instructor in library methods. She was acting director of the State University of Iowa Summer School for Library Training, 1927-30, and associate director since 1932. Miss Felsenthal was the author of a biography of her father, Bernhard Felsenthal, Teacher in Israel, published by the Oxford University Press in 1924, and of Readable Books in Many Subjects, published by the A.L.A. in 1929. Her former students in the Library School will remember her as a teacher whose scholarly gifts, broad general knowledge, and keen interest in the library profession were a source of greatest inspiration.

CONFERENCE ON LIBRARY EDUCATION

On October 30-31, a group of library school deans and directors met in Urbana to discuss some of the problems connected with changes now taking place in the field of library education. Though primarily a conference of Type I schools, all of which were represented, delegates attended also from Type II and III schools and from the American Library Association. Those present, in addition to representatives of the Illinois Library School, were Professor LeRoy Merritt, University of California; Dean Berelson and Associate Dean Henne, University of Chicago; Dean Carl M. White and Associate Dean Martin, Columbia University; Director Morton, Louisiana State University; Professor Gjelsness, University of Michigan; Professor Strout, University of Minnesota; Director Allez, University of Wisconsin; and Anita Hostetter, ALA Board of Education for Librarianship.

The chief purposes of the meeting were to discuss current proposals and trends in education for librarianship, and to try to come to some general agreements on programs and standards.

At the beginning of the conference, a representative of each school discussed any new plans his institution might have under consideration. Furthest advanced, apparently, is the Chicago Graduate Library School's program, which went into effect this fall, setting up a three-year curriculum for the master's degree, to begin with the junior year. The Columbia School of Library Service curriculum is likewise undergoing radical changes, but is still in process of development. As now projected, all work at Columbia will be on the graduate level, the B.S. degree is to be dropped, and the master's degree offered for the fifth year of work.

A Curriculum Committee at Illinois has been devoting much time and study this year to future plans. The Committee's thinking thus far has been more in the direction of the Chicago, than the Columbia program, though all proposals are still in a tentative state. If time schedules permit, it is hoped to have a completely revised curriculum ready to announce for 1948-49.

Other schools with representatives at the Conference are giving serious thought to the new trends, and a majority expect to conform to whatever pattern finally prevails.

In general, two matters received most attention at the Conference. First was the question of the location of the basic professional curriculum, i.e., should it be at the graduate or undergraduate level? Sound arguments favor each, and opinion is by no means unanimous. Second is the degree structure. Here it is quite apparent that there is an inclination to abandon the fifth-year bachelor's degree, and to give a master's degree for the same period of time. A few schools, however, are attempting to hold out against this tendency. It is also probable that several schools will soon be offering the doctorate in library science.

Among other points of interest brought out at the Conference were the reduced emphasis on technical instruction in the professional programs of practically all schools represented; increased stress on general education and book knowledge, as preparation for librarianship; greater encouragement for research by faculty members and advanced students; and a disposition to make more use of the offerings of other university departments. It was agreed that complete uniformity in the curricula of all library schools is not possible or desirable, but unanimity of opinion on a number of major issues was noticeable among the conferees.

At least one certain conclusion emerged from the Conference: no library school in the country is likely to remain unaffected or unchanged by the present revolution.

CLASS OF 1948

The Library School class of 1948, which entered upon its studies on October 9, consists of 46 candidates for the B.S. in L.S. degree and 28 graduate students. A total student registration of more than 19,000 for the fall semester on the Urbana campus of the University of Illinois has continued to make housing a difficult problem despite the University's efforts to provide adequate facilities. Apparently the difficulties proved unsurmountable for a number of prospective Library School students, causing a less than normal enrollment.

This year's class assumed a cosmopolitan aspect with the registration of two students from China, one from Siam, and one from Canada. Mo-Ling Hwang, who is working toward the master's degree in library science, is a graduate of Ginling College, Nanking, and Boone University Library School. Miss Hwang has served as librarian of the True Light Middle School, Canton; as assistant librarian of Nanking Theological Seminary; head cataloger at Lingnan University, Canton, and head of the Catalog Department, National Sun Yat-Sen University, Canton. She is working in the Catalog Department of the University of Illinois while studying in the Library School.

An-jun Sung, who comes from North China, is working toward the B.S. in L.S. degree. Miss Sung is a graduate of Penang School.

Rabieb Tantranon of Siam is pursuing her studies for the B.S. in L.S. degree on a grant from the American Association of University Women. Miss Tantranon is a graduate of Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok.

The Canadian student is Donald A. Redmond, a graduate of McGill University. Mr. Redmond has a position in the Acquisitions Department, University of Illinois Library, while continuing his studies in the Library School.

LIBRARY SCHOOL COLLOQUIUM

An interesting innovation in the Library School curriculum this fall is the weekly Colloquium held at ten o'clock every Tuesday morning. All regular students in the School are eligible to attend. The three-fold purpose of the Colloquium is (1) to increase acquaintance with outstanding people of the University community, (2) to meet with prominent librarians and others from the world of books, and (3) to view a series of documentary and educational films which, though on non-library subjects, are educative in their own right and highly suitable for many library purposes.

At the first Colloquium, on October 28, a film, March of the Movies, was shown. On November 4, John Moriarty, librarian of Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, spoke on "College and University Librarianship." Other speakers scheduled for the first semester are Marjorie Johns, University High School Library, Urbana, speaking on "School Librarianship"; Jay Allen, music librarian, University of Illinois, on "Music Librarianship"; Lyle Bamber, natural history librarian, University of Illinois, on "Science Librarianship"; Richard B. Sealock, librarian, Gary, Indiana, Public Library, on "Public Library Work"; and Marian Manley, librarian, Business Branch, Newark, New Jersey, Public Library, on "Special Librarianship." New Year's Resolution for Alumni

"Join the Library School Association, pay dues promptly, and participate in its activities."

An annual membership is only $1, a life membership only $25. In the long run a life membership is a good investment for you as well as for the Association.

Fifty-nine life memberships are needed to supplement the Endowment Fund. The $300 heretofore available from the fund for the annual Sharp Scholarship is no longer adequate in the face of rising living costs. The amount must be raised to $500 in order to attract candidates.

Won't you be one of the 59?

LIBRARY SCHOOL DINNER

Wednesday evening, June 16, at 6:30, Hotel Chelsea, are the time and place set for the annual dinner meeting of the University of Illinois Library School Association during the A.L.A. The change does not seem likely to interfere too much with events on the A.L.A. program and will allow freedom to attend the other school dinners to those alumni who have other school connections. It may even set a desirable precedent for the Illinois Library School Association.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the A.L.A. Registration Desk as usual. Alumni should obtain their tickets as soon as possible after registering.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Alumni:

Greetings from the nation's capital, where mighty important things are going on these days, not the least of which is the formulation of plans for our annual alumni dinner meeting, to be held Wednesday, June 16, at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City. Miss Elva L. Krogh, chairman of the committee, reports that plans are shaping up for an evening that promises to be tops. I know those of you who are not yet acquainted with Dr. Harold Lancon are eager to meet him, and we are doubly fortunate in that both he and Director Downs plan to be present to bring us up-to-date on Library School matters.

Do you realize that in this day of inflationary prices there is a real bargain available to you? Life membership dues are still only $25, payable within a five-year period, and we need at least 60 such memberships to

And speaking of attracting people, are you living up to the reputation that the alumni have of being the School's best recruiting agents?

Many thanks to you all for the honor and privilege of serving as your president this year. I am looking forward to meeting many of you who are only names to me now and to seeing again old friends at our emerald anniversary (yes, it's the School's fifty-fifth year) meeting. Till June then.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Illinois Library School Association is incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois, according to the terms of which corporations must have at least three directors. In consequence, the following amendment to the constitution is necessary:

ARTICLE V. — OFFICERS (Present Wording)

The officers shall be a president, first and second vice-presidents, a secretary-treasurer, and an executive board of five, of which the above officers shall constitute four members. They shall be elected by ballot at each annual meeting and shall continue in office until the adjournment of the meeting at which their successors are elected. The ex-president of the preceding executive board shall be the fifth member, ex-officio.

ARTICLE V. — OFFICERS (Proposed)

The officers shall be a president, first and second vice-presidents, a secretary-treasurer, and three directors constituting an executive board of seven. They shall be elected by ballot at each annual meeting and shall continue in office until the adjournment of the meeting at which their successors are elected. The ex-president of the Association shall serve as a director for the year succeeding his term of office. The other two directors shall be elected to serve for two-year and three-year terms.

The proposed amendment will be presented for action at the annual meeting of the Association in Atlantic City.

WINDSOR PUBLICATION FUND

In 1938-39 when the alumni were making plans to give fitting recognition to Mr. Windsor on the occasion of his retirement from the directorship of the Library School, the committee on recognition and honor for Mr. Windsor presented four plans for the consideration of the alumni: a. Portrait; b. Publication Fund; c. Lectureship; d. Scholarship Fund. Though the idea of the portrait was received with considerable enthusiasm, it was abandoned largely in deference to Mr. Windsor's own wish to have some project of greater benefit to the Alumni generally.

The Publication Fund received the next highest vote. A committee of alumni, composed of Miss Grace England, chairman, Mr. Everett Fontaine, Miss Anne Boyd, and Mr. Windsor, has been working faithfully for the last six years to find a publication which would receive unanimous agreement. The original idea was to publish some worth-while contribution to librarianship which had been made by an alumnus. Various theses submitted by graduate students were carefully studied, and a great deal of other material was considered. However, though the committee spent much time and effort, no agreement was reached on any one publication.

Dr. Downs and Dr. Lancour, with Mr. Windsor's approval and the consent of the Publications Committee, have proposed that the income on the endowment fund be used to establish a lectureship series in the field of librarianship and its related subjects. The School feels that such a series of lectures presented on the Urbana campus to the general University audience would bring prestige to the alumni and would also give enduring recognition to Mr. Windsor. It is hoped that a series of two or three lectures by some well-known librarian or bibliographer could be given each year or on alternate years as funds permit. The University would be willing to sponsor the publication of these lectures. Published in a volume to be called the "Phineas Lawrence Windsor Lecture Series," they would appear as part of a general library series known as the "University of Illinois Contributions to Librarianship." The Rosenbach Lectureship in Bibliography at the University of Pennsylvania and the R. R. Bowker Lectures at the New York Public Library are similar series of high professional value.

This matter will be presented for discussion by alumni at the annual meeting in Atlantic City.

Library School News

THE NEW LIBRARY SCHOOL PROGRAM

Plans for the new program in Library Science have been approved by the University Senate and Trustees and will go into effect in the fall semester of 1948.

Students will now be permitted to enter the Library School in their junior year, registering for a course running throughout the year, designed to give a broad acquaintance with the place of libraries in society and the use of books and libraries. In the senior year, twelve additional semester hours in Library Science will be taken, consisting of a survey course on the organization and operation of libraries and two comprehensive courses on the literature of special subject fields. Concurrently, in both the junior and senior years, students will carry courses in other departments of the University to round out their general educational background and provide a subject major of 20 hours and a minor of 16 hours. Students who complete the junior-senior programs would be prepared for sub-professional positions in libraries, but it is expected that those qualified would proceed with their work on a master's degree in the fifth year.

The fifth year's work will lead to an M.S. degree in Library Science and will have two chief purposes: to prepare for beginning professional positions in various types of libraries, and to lay a foundation for advanced study leading to the doctorate in Library Science. The master's degree will be taken without writing a thesis, but nine units will be required.

The two-year graduate program beyond the master's degree, which will lead to the degree of Doctor of Library Science, will carry with it the standard Graduate College requirements as to residence, languages, examinations, research, etc.

More detailed information regarding specific courses to be offered at the various levels will be found in the Library School announcement now in preparation. All alumni will be sent copies as soon as they are off the press.

Among the reasons for the change in the Library School's program is the belief on the part of librarians here and elsewhere that a master's degree in librarianship should not require more time than a master's degree in most subject fields, and an acute shortage of professional librarians, which the existing systems of training are not adequate to meet.

A number of library schools other than Illinois have either announced or are getting ready to announce a one-year master's degree program. Among those which have already placed such a plan in effect are the University of Chicago, University of Southern California, University of Denver, Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, Emory University, and Florida State University. Columbia University has announced a similar arrangement, beginning with the fall of 1948.

The faculty of the Illinois Library School have been meeting twice weekly for the past several months to plan the new program, and have been supplementing their faculty meetings with the work of committees and with individual assignments. They have also been aided in their deliberations by the conference of deans and directors of leading library schools (California, Chicago, Columbia, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin), which met in Urbana several days last October.

EFFECTS OF CURRICULUM CHANGES

From one point of view, present holders of the B.S. and M.S. degrees in library science are placed at a disadvantage by the Library School's new program. They will have spent more time and completed more courses than will be required of candidates for degrees under the revised plan.

Other than a natural disappointment in not having a master's degree, however, present B.S. holders should not suffer in any practical respect. Preparation for professional librarianship will still require five years, or a bachelor's degree plus one year of professional training. All members of the library profession will be aware of this technicality. Every effort will also be made to acquaint non-librarian employers with the situation. Most civil service requirements even now do not call for a specific degree but stipulate the number of years of training. The American Library Association recommends this procedure.

Present master's degree holders will be able to point out, and personnel records from the Library School will always show, the added academic work they have completed. Here again the number of years of training will be significant.

A similar situation occurred when the old two-year B.L.S. degree was replaced by the one-year B.S. in L.S. No particular hardship was suffered by the older degree holders at that time. The B.L.S. degree shortly acquired the status of a master's degree.

A number of questions have been asked about the status of the B.S. and M.S. candidates under the old curriculum, who will not have completed requirements for their degrees before the new program goes into effect. Many summer school students, particularly, will be affected by that problem. It has been tentatively decided that the old B.S. degree will not be granted after August 1948. Students working for the B.S. degree may transfer to the new M.S. program by offering nine hours credit from courses L.S. 60-64 to meet pre-graduate requirements. Nine additional units will be required for the master's degree, toward which all other Library Science courses not used in meeting the pre-graduate requirements may be offered. The old M.S. degree will not be granted after August 1949. Students working for that degree may transfer all unit credits for full value to the new master's program.

QUESTIONNAIRE RETURNS

A Message from Assistant Director Lancour

The returns from the annual Alumni mailing now total 1,023, almost 50 per cent of the 2,316 former students to whom letters were sent. Placement work has already been materially aided. It has been possible for the Library School to recommend 94 names for the 220 requests received during the single month of March. All of these names were drawn from the new active file of this year's returned cards.

The salary range for the positions offered was from $2,400 to $7,875 and included all types of library positions. The youngest graduate whom we recommended for a position was 23; the oldest was 61.

The amount of information contained in your replies is going to make it possible to compile some statistics on geographical location, type of work being done, and salary ranges of Illinois graduates. These will probably be ready for publication in the next issue of the News Letter. We feel it will provide useful statistical data for many of you.

We would like to hear from the remaining 50 per cent. If you have mislaid your card, a penny postal to the School will bring you another, post haste.

SUMMER SCHOOL

All the regular members of the Library School faculty, except Miss Lohrer and Mr. Goldhor, will teach in the 1948 summer session. Visiting instructors will be Lura E. Crawford '38, librarian, Oak Park High School, Oak Park, Illinois; William H. Jesse, librarian, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee; Richard B. Sealock, librarian, Gary, Indiana, Public Library; and Lawrence S. Thompson, librarian, Western Michigan College of Education. Arthur L. Irion, instructor in psychology, University of Illinois, will give a course in psychology for librarians.

MOBILE EXTENSION SCHOOL

An interesting statewide extension program is being started by the Library School this summer. Referred to as the "Mobile School" and patterned after the type of work done in the European Theater during the War by Mr. Lancour and Mr. Goldhor, the plan is to send a bookmobile, lent by the State Library, to visit various parts of the state for a period of one week each to give short intensive training to school and small public librarians. An interesting feature of the program is the fact that, of the five days to be spent in each area, only one will be given to the teaching of techniques, and the remaining four will be devoted to an emphasis on the development of service to the community.

Mrs. O. M. Karraker and Mrs. Lenna Adair Schwabe have been appointed instructors for the Mobile School during the Summer Session. Mrs. Karraker, who was a field visitor for the Illinois State Library for the past ten years, was previously librarian at the Harrisburg, Illinois, Public Library from 1923 to 1937. Mrs. Schwabe, librarian at the Urbana High School, received her B.S. in L.S. from the Library School here in 1945.

INSPECTION TRIP

The annual Library School inspection trip this year was held in Bloomington, Illinois, and Chicago, Illinois, from March 22 to March 25, 1948. Herbert Goldhor, assistant professor, and Nancy E. Burham, of the faculty were in charge. The Illinois State Normal University Library, the Chicago Public Library, the John Crerar Library, the Newberry Library, and the Joint Reference Library were among the libraries visited. The group also toured the Monastery Hill Bindery and the offices of the Quarrie Corporation. A highlight of the trip was visiting the Illinois State Library Bookmobile, Region 2, while it was making one of its regular stops and observing the Bookmobile Librarian in action.

COLLOQUIUM

The weekly Library School Colloquium, begun last fall, has continued through the second semester, with talks by outstanding speakers of the book world and the library profession and showings of the best in documentary motion pictures. Among the speakers since January 1 have been Lucille M. Morsch, chief, Descriptive Cataloging Division, Library of Congress; Lyle E. Bamber, Natural History librarian, University of Illinois Library; Lewis V. Peterson, director of Audio-Visual Aids, Extension Division, University of Illinois; Bernita J. Davies '32, librarian, University of Illinois School of Law; David Randall, head of the Rare Book Department of Scribner's Book Store, New York; and Esther P. Potter, director, Dewey Decimal Classification, Library of Congress.

The films shown included The Negro Soldier, Power of the Land, and March of the Movies.

VISITORS

Visitors to the Library School during the winter and spring have included Mary E. Miller, director of personnel, Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore; Harriet Howe, director, University of Denver Library School; Edward G. Freehafer, executive assistant, New York Public Library; Frederick Wezeman, librarian, Public Library, Racine, Wisconsin; and Harold Hayden, librarian, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

TAXATION WORKSHOP

The Library School joined with the Illinois State Library and the Illinois Library Association in sponsoring a taxation workshop in Springfield, Illinois, on February 25 and 26. The purpose of the workshop was to inform and advise library trustees and librarians in regard to library tax problems, and to enable them to figure out the maximum amount of money to which they are entitled under recent revenue acts. Herbert Goldhor, assistant professor of library science, George B. Brown, acquisition librarian, and Arnold H. Trotier, assistant director for Technical Departments, were among those serving as advisors at the conference, which was attended by about 125 persons.

FACULTY NOTES

The entire Library School faculty attended the mid-winter meeting of the A.L.A. January 29-31. Mr. Lancour spoke at the conference on education for librarianship, reporting on the conference on library education held in Urbana last fall.

Mr. Downs and Mr. Lancour remained in Chicago to attend a post-conference meeting of the Board of Administrators for Libraries, February 1 and 2.

Mr. Downs presided at the Southern Conference of College and University Librarians held in March in connection with the installation of a new president of the University of Florida. The theme of the conference was "Regional Planning."

Mr. Downs has been appointed a member of the recently formed Great Issues Committee of the A.L.A., organized to aid libraries in publicizing important contemporary problems.

The results of a survey of the Cornell University Libraries, made by Mr. Downs in cooperation with Maurice Tauber and Louis R. Wilson have recently been published by Cornell University in a volume of two hundred pages.

The Proceedings of the Princeton Conference on International Exchanges, November 1946, has also appeared, with an introduction by Mr. Downs, who was co-chairman of the conference.

Other recent publications of Director Downs include an article "Many Study Photographic Processes" in the Library Journal, December 1, 1947; "Symposium on 'The Library of Congress and the Future of Its Catalogue' by Theodore Besterman" in the Journal of Documentation for March 1947; and a review of The Graduate School Research and Publications (University of North Carolina Sesquicentennial Publications) in the Library Quarterly of January 1948. The Story of Books, by Mr. Downs, published by the University of North Carolina Press in 1935, which has been out of print for several years, has recently been reissued.

P. L. Windsor, director emeritus, drove to Chicago April 3 to attend a meeting of the executive board of the Illinois Library Association. He took with him several others from the University of Illinois Library staff.

Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, plans to spend the month of July at Clifton Springs, New York, with her sister and niece from Mobile, Alabama.

An article by Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor, on "The Effect of Organizational Patterns on the Adequacy and Efficiency of Reference Service in the Large American Public Library," appears in the Library Quarterly, October, 1947. The article is an abstract of Miss Phelps' doctoral dissertation at the University of Chicago Graduate Library School.

A talk, European Libraries, 1947, given at a general session of the Illinois Library Association conference in Chicago last fall, by Alice Lohrer, assistant professor, has been published in the December 1947 issue of the I.L.A. Record, quarterly publication of the Illinois Library Association.

Herbert Goldhor, assistant professor, has undertaken an interesting study of the trend of public library circulation in Illinois. With the aid of students in the Library School, he is compiling an "Index of Illinois Public Library Circulation" to be published monthly in Illinois Libraries. The first of the series appeared in the January 1948 issue. The project is being financed by the Library School.

Mr. Goldhor has contributed an article on "How a Librarian Should Do a Field Research Job" to the Library Journal, December 1, 1947, and a review of State-Local Relations, issued by the Council of State Governments, to the Library Quarterly, October 1947. A summary of a talk given by Mr. Goldhor at the Gary, Indiana, Public Library last fall appears in the Library Journal of December 15.

Class of 1903

Anna V. Jennings died at her home at 1625 South 23rd Street, Lincoln, Nebraska, on January 22. Miss Jennings had been librarian of Nebraska State Teachers College, Kearney from 1905 until 1940, developing the library there into a nationally recognized model of its type. During that time she was active in civic and professional organizations. She served as president of the Nebraska Library Association, 1909-10 and again in 1936-37, and as chairman of the teachers college group of the A.L.A. in 1923, 1929, and 1932. A leader in state educational circles, Miss Jennings had also served at one time as president of the Nebraska Women's Educational Club. In 1942 she was state director of the Victory Book Campaign.

Class of 1913

Vera J. Snook, librarian of the Little Rock, Arkansas, Public Library, died of a heart ailment on March 1, in a Little Rock hospital. Miss Snook had served the Little Rock Library since January 1926, having been formerly librarian in the Ottawa, Illinois, Public Library, and in the Lincoln County Library, Libby, Montana. An able and progressive administrator, with a keen sense of humor and wide interest in art and music as well as in books, Miss Snook brought the Little Rock Library through the difficult years of the depression to become an increasingly vital cultural force in the community. She was instrumental in effecting the passage of state legislation for a millage library tax which made possible the expansion of library facilities through increased financial aid. A leader in state-wide library affairs, Miss Snook served as president of the Arkansas Library Association in 1929 and again in 1934, and was influential in the creation of the Arkansas State Library Commission. Under her leadership as a member of the Commission since 1935, the development of free, state sponsored libraries throughout Arkansas received great impetus. Miss Snook was also active in the Southeastern Library Association and in the American Library Association, as well as in many local civic affairs. The auditorium of the Little Rock Library, also used for the phonograph record collection, has been designated a permanent memorial to Miss Snook, with a portrait and tablet in her memory. A new record player will be purchased for the room in recognition of her special interest in this phase of the library's services.

From The Hague, Netherlands, Carlene Holly has sent an interesting letter dated March 18, telling of the recent transfer of her husband, Colonel Joseph Holly, a military attaché of the United States government, from London to the Dutch capital. "Things move suddenly and very unexpectedly for us," writes Mrs. Holly. "We received orders February 19 to report here February 18, so we left London half packed February 25 or 26 — can't remember. How to sublet the flat, etc., etc. Joe's C45 from here flew over after us. . . . We are still in the hotel [The Kasteel] but have hopes of eventually finding a place. . . . The flowers are the loveliest I have seen ever. Flower Festival is from April 15 to April 25, and I know it will be a glorious sight. Harleem is the center of the bulb country, and we drove over there and to Delft Sunday and already the fields are masses of purple, yellow and white — crocuses and narcissus. . . .

"Yesterday was a typical day here for us — I had a French lesson at 9 and a Dutch at 10 at the Berlitz School. . . . We had official guests for lunch. At 4 we had to go to a musical (amateur) given by Baroness Van Tuyll who is mistress of the Robes and highest ranking of the Ladies in Waiting — really a charming person. It lasted till 6 and we were the only Americans there. . . . At 8:15 we went to the Ambassador's (Dr. Baruch) for a very formal dinner given for the new British ambassador. . . . There was the Pope's representative in The Hague — a delightful person in his colorful robes, the Norwegian minister, the Spanish minister, British charge d'affaires, etc. . . . Then after that (about 11:15) we went to the Navy attaché's until one o'clock. . . . It all sounds very gay but the tone is rather sombre and the talk is cautious and there is a strained and tense atmosphere. . . ."

Mrs. Holly mentions the American Library, sponsored by the Embassy, whose chief is interested in having American library school students work there for short periods for experience. "The Royal Library here is fine," she states, "though it is handicapped by a shortage of books."

She finds the Netherlands "much more like America than England, — no chimney pots here — central heating, only there is a shortage of coal. . . ."

Mrs. Holly also describes a month spent in Bavaria where she visited the beautiful Alps region, later going over into Austria for a stay in Salzburg. She finds conditions in Munich and Frankfort "depressing" and feels that "until a stable currency is established . . . there can be no beginning of economic or social comeback. . . ."

Library School Association NEWS LETTER

Above is a view of Room 310, transformed from study room to Library. By this move, made at the end of the summer session, the Library School Library now has a seating capacity of 65 as compared with 19 in its former quarters in Room 328, shown in News Letter number 35, October, 1944. There is also space for considerable expansion of the book collection, now about 8,000 volumes, as soon as shelving becomes available. The study desks formerly housed in this room are no longer needed under the new curriculum.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY SCHOOL
ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING
ATLANTIC CITY, NEW JERSEY, JUNE 16, 1948

On Wednesday evening, June 16, one hundred and twenty alumni met in the Como Room of the Hotel Chelsea in Atlantic City for the annual meeting of the Association. The dinner was followed by a program and business meeting.

Mrs. Madeline Cord Thompson, the president, served as the presiding officer. Words of welcome to the Atlantic seaboard were given by Mr. Jerome K. Wilcox. The president then read messages of greeting from Mr. Windsor and from Miss Simpson. There followed introductions of Miss England, Mr. Scudder, Miss Hostetter, Mr. Wilcox, Mrs. Thompson, Dr. Lancour, Miss Krogh, Miss Oldfather, Mr. Sealock and Miss Erlandson, who were at the speaker's table. The traditional roll call by groups of classes prior to 1940 and by individual classes was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Thompson took pleasure in presenting the speaker of the evening, Dr. Harold Lancour, new assistant director of the Library School, who made his initial appearance before the alumni. He brought items of news from the faculty and told of the graduating class in June which numbered 34 in the B.S. in L.S. program and 6 in the M.S. group. An interesting discussion of the new curriculum which is to go into effect this summer was presented. Inasmuch as discussions of this program have appeared in print in several places further treatment will be omitted here. There followed a lively question period during which Dr. Lancour clarified many points.

In the absence of Miss Houchens the reports of the secretary-treasurer were read by Margaret Oldfather and accepted as read.

Miss England gave the report for the Windsor Publication Fund Committee (appended). The chairman then stated that there had been considerable discussion by the Library School faculty and by the Executive Board of the Association in regard to changing the Windsor Publication Fund to a Windsor Lectureship Fund. This would be quite in keeping with the original propositions submitted to the alumni in 1939 when a lectureship was one of the four principal suggestions for the use of the fund. At the time the fund was established the need for money for publication seemed paramount, but the situation at the School has changed considerably in the last few years, and funds for publication are now available from the University, whereas funds for lectureships are still scarce. The general idea was set forth in the appended letter from Director Downs. The chairman then read the Proposals Concerning the Windsor Lectureship Fund: Management and Conservation, prepared by Mr. Windsor and Miss Houchens (appended). Paragraphs 1, 2, and 3 were approved. Miss England moved an amendment to paragraph 4 "that the current president of the Alumni Association be the 4th member of the committee." The amendment passed and then paragraph 4 was approved as amended. Miss England also moved that paragraph 5 be referred to the Executive Board for further study and the motion carried. The difficulty presented by paragraph 5 was the proposed reorganization of A.L.A. and the conflict that might arise with regional meetings and less frequent national meetings. The question of a ballot by mail was also raised. Miss England moved that, since the objectives of the Windsor Publication Fund had changed, the editorial committee be discharged. Motion was carried. Mr. Scudder moved, and the membership responded, to give a rising vote of thanks to this Committee whose members were Miss England, Mr. Fontaine, and Mr. Shove.

A motion carried whereby a sum of approximately $256 be transferred from the Association to the Windsor Fund to give the treasury enough money to purchase two more shares of A. T. & T. which would then net sufficient income for an annual lectureship.

The proposed amendment to the Constitution was read and Mr. Wilcox moved the adoption. Mr. Sealock seconded the motion, which carried. This amendment was proposed and passed in order to fulfill a requirement of the laws of the State of Illinois whereby a corporation must have at least three directors.

There seemed to be some ambiguity in the wording and, therefore, Miss Field moved and Mr. Scudder seconded the motion that the statement be clarified and presented at the next annual meeting.

The financial report of the Sharp Scholarship Fund was read and accepted. Inasmuch as there is not enough accrued interest each year to award the Sharp Scholarship, Mr. Wilcox moved that we offer the Sharp Scholarship any year the income accumulates to at least $600. The motion carried.

Mrs. Thompson urged more life memberships and that the members remember to pay annual dues.

Miss Bitting moved that the secretary pro-tem send a note of appreciation to Miss Houchens and Miss Black, editors of the News Letter.

A vote of thanks was given the local committee under the chairmanship of Miss Krogh who had made the arrangements for the dinner meeting.

The report of the Nominating Committee was presented by Miss Erlandson. The Committee made up of Eunice Collins, Evalyn Reich Nelson, and Arnold H. Trotier, chairman, presented the following slate which was accepted —

President — Wayne S. Yenawine

First Vice President — Eunice H. Speer

Second Vice President — Marion Phillips

Secretary-Treasurer — Josie B. Houchens

Trustee of Endowment Fund — Donald W. Kohlstedt 1948-51

Director (one-year term) — Madeline Cord Thompson 1948-49

Director (two-year term) — Mary P. Sublett 1948-50

Director (three-year term) — Elizabeth A. Windsor 1948-51

All new officers present were introduced.

Meeting adjourned.

WINDSOR PUBLICATION FUND COMMITTEE REPORT

June 10, 1948

To the University of Illinois Library School Association:

The record of the Windsor Fund editorial committee is one of much effort, a lot of hard, earnest work, and little tangible accomplishment.

The first meeting of the committee was held June 24, 1942 at which time standards and policies were set up and presented to the Alumni Association for its approval. Mr. Windsor was present at this meeting, and his ideas were incorporated in the statement. The committee has met in whole or in part at each subsequent annual and midwinter meeting of A.L.A.

Two manuscripts were tentatively agreed upon early in the committee's existence as suitable candidates for publication. No replies were received to letters addressed to one author and the second, in war service, could not be reached. Shortly thereafter the committee was advised that Mr. Windsor had himself prepared a history of the building of the University of Illinois Library, and the committee agreed that this would be an eminently fitting first publication on the fund, and we set to work to induce Mr. Windsor to prepare his manuscript for publication. After considerable correspondence, we were able to announce to you at the Buffalo meeting that he had so agreed, the manuscript to be ready in time to print and issue the publication for the San Francisco meeting. We had counted heavily upon this up to January, 1948 when Mr. Windsor advised us that he would be unable to do the work entailed. Needless to say, we were greatly disappointed.

In the meantime the committee continued to read theses submitted in fulfillment of requirements for a degree and found two on which the members had reached agreement and which we were prepared to commission when word reached us that members of the present faculty of the school were planning to present a recommendation changing the objectives of the fund from a publication fund to a lectureship fund. The committee then held in abeyance its previous plans, although this brought keen disappointment to ourselves and to the authors who had been tentatively approached. Perhaps some other way of publishing these theses will be found if the alumni agree to the proposed change.

Perhaps some of you are thinking that the committee has sought for too much, has been too selective, has held too high standards. We were of course bound by the original statement of policy, which we interpreted quite literally — that any manuscripts to be published must be such as would do honor to Mr. Windsor and reflect credit upon the school. If you have re-read lately some of your own early writings, as I have myself done just recently, you will agree with the committee that they do not always reflect the deathless wisdom that we thought they had at the moment they left our hands. Then, too, times change. There were good theses on subjects in which interest is now only academic and which would not therefore be likely to have ready sale. Others needed much revision, and for one reason or another, revision was not deemed possible or feasible.

Respectfully submitted,

Everett O. Fontaine

Raymond H. Shove

Grace A. England, Chairman

PROPOSALS IN REGARD TO THE WINDSOR LECTURESHIP BY LIBRARY SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION

June 9, 1948

The faculty of the Library School enthusiastically endorse the proposal to use the fund accumulated to honor Mr. Windsor as an endowment fund supporting a lectureship named in his honor.

If this change is decided upon at the next annual meeting of the Alumni Association, the following plan is suggested as a means of establishing the lectureship and is one that provides a maximum of benefit to the School itself.

It is suggested that each year an individual of exceptional calibre be appointed to the Phineas L. Windsor Lectures in Librarianship. Such an appointment would call for the delivery of three lectures in the late fall or early spring of each year, distributed over a period of one week. The lectures would be open to students of the Library School, librarians of the University Library and of neighboring colleges and communities, as well as to the entire University community. Appointment to the lectureship would be made nine or ten months in advance of delivery, and it would be expected that the lecturer would prepare a detailed treatment of some aspect of librarianship.

To insure the lectures becoming permanent contributions to our professional literature, it is planned that they would be printed each year in a book of suitable and attractive design and format. This plan has been discussed with Dr. Wilbur Schramm, director of the University of Illinois Press, and he has indicated great interest in it. He has given definite indication that if the lectures were of the quality, calibre, and type that we have described the University Press would be most eager to publish them.

It is proposed that the honorarium to the lecturer be paid from the income of the invested fund. By next year this should amount to approximately $300 annually. It is believed that this would be a sufficient amount to attract the type of lecturer we have in mind.

It is the consensus of the faculty that this plan has several merits. In the first place it would be a dignified, complimentary, and continuing memorial to Mr. Windsor. It would bring to the School each year an outstanding thinker in the field of books and librarianship. It would be an opportunity for the finest kind of public relations, both within the University and on the national, and even international, scene. It is also to be hoped that the series of books resulting from the lectures would constitute outstanding intellectual achievements in librarianship.

R. B. Downs, Director

PROPOSALS CONCERNING THE MANAGEMENT OF THE PHINEAS L. WINDSOR LECTURES IN LIBRARIANSHIP

1. The primary purpose of this fund is to provide a lectureship for the Library School. The manuscripts resulting from such lectures are to be published in a series by the University of Illinois Press. This series shall be entitled the Phineas L. Windsor Lectures in Librarianship.

2. The fund shall be managed by three trustees, one of whom shall be the secretary-treasurer of the association. The other two shall be elected by ballot on alternate years, to hold office for two years from the date of election or until successors shall be chosen, except that the first year one shall be elected to hold office for one year and the other to hold office for two years.

3. The expenses incident to the lectureship shall be paid from the annual income of the invested funds.

4. The choice of the lecturer shall be vested in a committee composed of the assistant director of the Library School, a member of the Library School faculty, the secretary-treasurer of the Library School Association, and the current president of the Association.

5. Any of these provisions may be changed by a vote of the Association at two consecutive annual meetings of the Association.

WINDSOR LECTURES IN LIBRARIANSHIP INAUGURATED

In view of the above information, it will be of interest to alumni to learn that the first lecturer in the Windsor Lecture Series has been chosen. John T. Winterich, author, editor, and lecturer, has accepted the invitation of the committee to give the initial series in April. Mr. Winterich is well known to librarians for his writings on early American books and printing. More detailed information concerning his lectures will be sent alumni at a later date in the hope that many may arrange to attend.

FACULTY NOTES

R. B. Downs, director, spent two months in Japan during the summer as a special consultant with the Allied Civil Information and Education Section in the organization of the National Diet Library, Tokyo. Dr. Downs left Washington by Army plane on July 1, returning to Urbana on September 16. While in Japan he worked closely with Japanese librarians and government officials, on such problems as standardizing classification and cataloging methods, a national union catalog, publication of a national bibliography and other bibliographical series, revision of copyright legislation, setting up a system of international exchanges, training of personnel, and integrating the national library with the existing government bureau libraries.

Dr. Downs lectured at a library institute at the University of Tokyo and also at the University of Kioto, and assisted faculty members at both institutions in setting up library schools. A report on his work has been issued in mimeographed form in both the English and Japanese languages, National Diet Library: Report on Technical Processes, Bibliographical Services and General Organization . . . Tokyo, General Headquarters, Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers, Civil Information and Education Section, Education Division, 1948, 32 pages.

Dr. Downs saw a number of Illinois Library School alumni in Japan, including Paul Burnette '37, M.S. California '41, library consultant, Civil Information and Education Section, Supreme Command for the Allied Powers, Elliott Hardaway '38, M.S.'40 of the Army Information Libraries Service and Mrs. Hardaway, the former Sylvia Shaver '37.

His experiences in Japan were the subject of a talk by Dr. Downs at the annual conference of the Illinois Library Association in Springfield in November, and he has also given a number of informal talks locally.

Dr. Downs served as chairman with an alumnus, Kenneth R. Shaffer, director of the Simmons College School of Library Science, Boston, of the national conference on library education held at Princeton University in December. The conference was instituted by the Council of National Library Associations through a grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to consider the issues involved in stabilizing the training field in library education.

P. L. Windsor, director emeritus, drove to Baltimore with his granddaughters, Elizabeth and Marian Harding, in August. Elizabeth was married on September 26 to George Pasti, Jr., a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in history at the University of Illinois. Following the ceremony at Wesley Foundation, Urbana, a reception was held at the Windsor home. Marian Harding is staying with her grandfather as she continues her studies at the University of Illinois.

Harold Lancour, assistant director, took part in the program of the Institute on Library Education held at the University of Chicago in August. He discussed a paper presented by Dr. Louis Round Wilson, director of the University of North Carolina School of Library Science. At the Illinois Library Association meeting in Springfield in November, Dr. Lancour served as moderator for a panel discussion on recruiting for school library service, and gave a talk on the implications of the new curricula in preparation for school library work, before the Illinois Association of School Librarians, which met at the same time.

Dr. Lancour discusses current trends in education for librarianship in an article, "The New Pattern Looks Good" in the May 1 issue of the Library Journal.

In July Dr. Lancour spoke at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, where he met a number of alumnae members of the library staff.

Frances Simpson, assistant director emerita, spent six weeks at Clifton Springs, New York, during the summer.

Ethel Bond, associate professor, had a short vacation trip in Wisconsin after teaching in the summer session of Library School. Miss Bond had the misfortune to break her shoulder in a fall on October 18 and had to spend several weeks in the hospital. She was able to resume her teaching in about six weeks.

Anne M. Boyd, associate professor, is a member of the American Bibliographical Society committee which is undertaking an exhaustive bibliography of nineteenth century publishing. Miss Boyd spoke on "The Public Library's Place in Adult Education" at the Conference on Adult Education held at the University of Illinois in July and also served as discussion leader.

Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor, attended the A.L.A. conference in Atlantic City in June and also the pre-conference meeting on "Youth and Libraries," as well as a five-day Institute on Children's Reading. Following the Library School summer session, Miss Hostetter attended the Institute on Library Education at the University of Chicago. She is on leave of absence during the first semester to continue her studies toward the doctor's degree at Northwestern University.

Rose B. Phelps, assistant professor, spent a short vacation in Michigan following the end of summer school. She is living this year in the home of May Smith at 504 West Illinois, Urbana.

Alice Lohrer, assistant professor, participated in the Institute on Education for Librarianship at the University of Chicago, discussing a paper presented by Dr. E. W. McDiarmid. Miss Lohrer has attended a number of conferences this fall. At Decatur on October 20 she spoke on "What the Librarian Expects of Teachers," and on October 22 at the Northeast Teachers Institute of Indiana at Fort Wayne on "Social Changes and Educational Implications." She led a panel discussion at the School Section meeting during the Illinois Library Association conference at Springfield in November.

Herbert Goldhor, associate professor, was married to Eleanor Cheydleur on May 29 at the First Presbyterian Church, Champaign, Illinois. Mrs. Goldhor, a physician, is connected with the Christie Clinic, Champaign. She is also interested in aviation and holds a pilot's license, a fact which, no doubt, inspired her husband to obtain his pilot's license during the past summer. The Goldhors are living at 708 South First Street, Champaign.

Dr. Goldhor is serving as chairman of the Committee on Terms and Definitions of the A.L.A. Public Libraries Division. He spoke at the Engineering Libraries Section meeting at Atlantic City in June. He also participated in the University of Illinois Conference on Adult Education in July, speaking on "Public Forums in Adult Education" at one of the sessions and acting as discussion leader at another.

An article by Dr. Goldhor, "Some Thoughts on the Curriculum of Library Schools," appeared in the June 12 issue of School and Society. He reviewed "The Armed Services and Adult Education," by Cyril O. Houle and others, for the October 1948 issue of the Library Quarterly.

A new member of the faculty is Viola M. James, B.S. in L.S.'45, formerly librarian of the Leyden Community High School, Franklin Park, Illinois. Miss James, who has been appointed instructor in library science, is teaching the new undergraduate courses in school library work offered by the Library School this fall as part of its state-wide extension program.

Dr. Lewis Stieg, formerly assistant director of the University of Illinois Library School and now director of the Library and Library School, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, has announced the birth of a second daughter, Laura Graf, last spring.

LIBRARY SCHOOL BEGINS NEW CURRICULUM

Enrollment

The total number of students, 336, enrolled in the various curricula of the Library School this semester is the largest in the School's history. There are 136 taking the library science courses on the Urbana campus, including those in the teacher-librarian and biological literature courses. Fifteen of these are registered in courses leading to the B.S. degree, 65 for the M.S. degree, and 9 for the new Doctor of Library Science degree. Two of the 9 are devoting full time to their studies in the doctoral program, Rolland Stevens, B.S.L.S.'40, A.M.'43, formerly assistant to the librarian, Rochester University Library, and Howard Winger, B.S.L.S., Peabody '45, M.S., Illinois '48, formerly stack librarian, University of Illinois Library.

Extension courses in Chicago include 31 candidates for the M.S. degree, while those in Dixon, Ottawa, and Rockford have enrolled 169 candidates for the B.S. degree.

EXTENSION COURSES

An outstanding characteristic of the work of the Library School this year has been the wide extension of its services and facilities. As a result of the unusually enthusiastic acceptance of the extension course in children's literature given by Professor Alice Lohrer last year, arrangements were made with the Division of University Extension to increase the off-campus offerings. Viola James, B.S.'44, was appointed full-time extension instructor starting with the fall semester of 1948. Miss James is offering the course in children's literature in three cities in the northern part of the state, Dixon, Ottawa and Rockford. She will give the same courses in three centers in southern Illinois next semester, and plans are being made to offer a wider variety of courses in several localities. All of these courses are in the undergraduate program.

In addition, acting upon repeated requests from librarians in the Chicago area, arrangements were made to offer a series of courses in that city in the graduate program leading to the M.S. degree. The first of these courses, Library Science 405, Library Administration, is now being given by Assistant Director Lancour. The spring semester course will be Library Science 404, The Reading of Young People, under Professor Lohrer.

A total of four of the nine units required for the M.S. degree may now be taken off the campus. The courses offered will be exactly the same as those at Urbana, under the same instructors. The facilities of the Chicago

Public Library have been made available to the Library School by Carl B. Roden, the librarian.

LABORATORY LIBRARY PROJECT

The Library School this fall embarked upon one of the features of its new program, the Laboratory Library Project. This project is the first of its kind in library education and is an adaptation of the experimental or laboratory school as developed by the graduate schools of education. By arrangement with the trustees of the Urbana, Illinois, Free Public Library, that institution is being used as the laboratory library wherein may be tested under realistic conditions many of the assumptions now accepted in library service. Dr. Herbert Goldhor, associate professor, has been appointed director of the project, which is expected to take about three years to complete. It is hoped that the results will be published in book form.

The first step of this new project is known as the Urbana Survey. This year the study is divided into two parts, with two research assistants assigned to work on the history and the government of the Urbana Free Library. Herman F. Alwin, a graduate student in the School's master's degree program, is undertaking the unit on the library's history, while the unit on the library's government is being done by Richard Taylor, a graduate student in political science in the University.

This research program is being planned to develop the work of the School in the field of public libraries, and should be of value and interest to all public librarians, particularly those in the smaller public libraries. It is believed that such a study, dealing with a library in a town of about 20,000 population with an estimated income of $1 per capita, is more nearly representative of public libraries of this country than those surveys which have been conducted of larger public libraries. The Urbana Survey promises to be such a community analysis as has long been recommended but for which few studies have actually been made. It is anticipated that the resulting report, based upon the actual testing of theories, may furnish valuable material on administrative problems of small public libraries for which there are now no data available.

PLACEMENT STATISTICS

Assistant Director Lancour has prepared the following statistical report on placement activities of his office, which will interest alumni:

SHARP SCHOLARSHIP

To conform with a policy recently established by the Graduate College of the University of Illinois, the Katharine L. Sharp Scholarship will henceforth be designated the Katharine L. Sharp Fellowship. The Graduate College has ruled that the term "scholarship" will be used for awards of tuition only, "fellowship" for awards which include a stipend, in which class the Sharp grant belongs.

As reported in the minutes of the Library School Association meeting in Atlantic City in June, it has been decided to offer the Fellowship only in "any year the income [of the Endowment Fund] accumulates to at least $600." This decision was made following the report of the Endowment Fund trustees, which revealed that, due to low interest rates, the income was not accumulating fast enough to make an annual award, and in view of the fact that the $300 formerly offered is no longer sufficient to attract candidates.

Since interest collections reported in June 1948 amount to only $232.49, the fellowship is not being offered during the current year.

LIBRARY AND RESEARCH ASSISTANTSHIPS AVAILABLE 1949-50

Next year several positions will be open to students either in the master's or in the doctoral programs:

1. University Fellowship.
2. Sharp Fellowship.
3. Research Assistantships. Will be at least two next year. The Library School is particularly interested in getting people who want to get into the public library field.
4. Testing Assistantship. This work is devoted to construction and implications of Library School examinations.
5. Audio-Visual Aids Assistantship. Develop present audio-visual service and to assist faculty in using these facilities in their class work.
6. Teaching Assistantship. It is hoped to offer one such assistantship to a graduate student working toward the advanced degree who is interested in teaching library science as a profession. It would be a half-time appointment.
7. Library Assistantship. Various assistantships in the University Library will also be open as in the past.

CONFERENCE ON TRAINING FOR SCHOOL LIBRARIANSHIP

At the invitation of the University of Illinois Library School, forty-one persons met on May 15, 1948, in the Illini Union to consider the needs of education for school library service in Illinois. The conference was opened by Director Downs, who was followed on the program by Assistant Director Lancour, Dean Bernard R. Berelson of the Graduate Library School, University of Chicago, Professor Eleanor Welch, librarian of Illinois State Normal University, and Professor Lowell B. Fisher, state chairman of the North Central Association and assistant high school visitor for Illinois. Miss Mildred Nickel and Assistant Professor Alice Lohrer summarized the conference. A five-page mimeographed report of the conference has been prepared by Marie M. Hostetter, assistant professor of library science.
